Borgman, 2010-08-13 An exploration of the technical social legal and economic aspects of the scholarly infrastructure needed to support research activities in all fields in the twenty first century Scholars in all fields now have access to an unprecedented wealth of online information tools and services The Internet lies at the core of an information infrastructure for distributed data intensive and collaborative research Although much attention has been paid to the new technologies making this possible from digitized books to sensor networks it is the underlying social and policy changes that will have the most lasting effect on the scholarly enterprise In Scholarship in the Digital Age Christine Borgman explores the technical social legal and economic aspects of the kind of infrastructure that we should be building for scholarly research in the twenty first century Borgman describes the roles that information technology plays at every stage in the life cycle of a research project and contrasts these new capabilities with the relatively stable system of scholarly communication which remains based on publishing in journals books and conference proceedings No framework for the impending data deluge exists comparable to that for publishing Analyzing scholarly practices in the sciences social sciences and humanities

Borgman compares each discipline's approach to infrastructure issues. In the process she challenges the many stakeholders in the scholarly infrastructure: scholars, publishers, libraries, funding agencies, and others to look beyond their own domains to address the interaction of technical, legal, economic, social, political, and disciplinary concerns. Scholarship in the Digital Age will provoke a stimulating conversation among all who depend on a rich and robust scholarly environment.

Vs. The World: Literary Perspectives on the Global Contemporary William G. Welty,2023-01-31 Much of the work done on the Post45 literary field carries an implicitly Americanist perspective Even the name of the field suggests a certain literary history with certain assumptions and blind spots about national spaces identities and histories But what would Post45 look like when considered from outside of the United States How do the current contours of the field exclude certain voices either in the United States or elsewhere in the world And how would such new perspectives shift the beginning and possible endpoint of that literary period What new narratives of the contemporary emerge if we begin telling the story in a different year or from a different national or global perspective This collection attempts to re frame the discussions in Post45 by engaging with non American writers texts and perspectives Additionally productive conversations emerge by attempting to think of canonical American writers like Mark Twain and Ishmael Reed from other national and global perspectives The authors consider both the ways texts themselves as well as their reception histories approach and challenge our understandings of the contemporary Ultimately the collection interrogates prevailing narratives of history culture identity and space within the Post45 field In so doing it re considers the historical periodization of the field which currently covers approximately 75 years of literary history The resulting essays thus work towards a new intertwined narrative about what defines the contemporary and how national and global literatures fit into that moment of world history The Parliamentary

Scholarship in Action: Essays on the Life and Work of Christiaan Snouck Hurgronje (1857-1936) ,2023-02-06 The Dutch scholar Christiaan Snouck Hurgronje 1857 1936 was one of the most famous orientalists of his time He acquired early fame through his daring research in Mecca in 1884 85 masterly narrated in two books and accompanied by two portfolios of photographs As an adviser to the colonial government in the Dutch East Indies from 1889 until 1906 he was on horseback during campaigns of pacification and published extensively on Indonesian cultures and languages Meanwhile he successively married two Sundanese women with whom he had several children In 1906 he became a professor in Leiden and promoted together with colleagues abroad the study of modern Islam meant to be useful for colonial purposes Despite his considerable scholarly political and cultural influence in the first decades of the twentieth century nowadays Snouck Hurgronje has been almost forgotten outside a small circle of specialists since he mainly published in Dutch and German The contributors to this volume each offer new insights about this enigmatic scholar and political actor who might be considered a classic proponent of orientalism Their detailed studies of his life and work challenge us to reconsider common views of the history of the study of Islam in European academia and encourage a more nuanced post orientalist approach with ample attention for cooperation exchange and hybridization Contributors

Moderation Vs. Total Abstinence ,1881 Early China/Ancient Greece Steven Shankman,Stephen W. Durrant,2012-02-01 This pioneering book compares Chinese and Western thought to offer a bracing and unpredictable cross cultural conversation The work contributes to the emerging field of Sino Hellenic studies which links two great and influential cultures that in fact had virtually no contact during the ancient period The patterns of thought and the cultural productions of early China and ancient Greece represent two significantly different responses to the myriad problems that human beings confront Throughout this volume the comparisons between these cultures evince two critical ideas First that thinking is itself an inherently comparative activity Through making comparisons the familiar becomes strange and the strange somewhat more familiar Second since we think through comparisons we should think them all the way through How valid and productive are the comparisons and contrasts made between particular works and different styles of thought that emerged from two different although contemporaneous cultural contexts
