Finance for Housing Cathy Davis, 2013-07-17 The global financial crisis of 2007-08 was triggered by sub prime mortgage mis selling in the US and the global sale of these debts as new bonds Austerity programmes are designed to reduce the borrowing that governments undertook to stabilise failing banking systems but the UK's Coalition government is using austerity as a cover to dismantle the welfare state. Housing is at the forefront of these changes. Mortgages and rental costs are rising as the market dictates them while people with low incomes now receive substantially less financial help from the welfare state. In this much needed text by an experienced author with a policy background current housing finance issues and their history are linked with broader social policy and political themes. It covers the finance of building and refurbishment managing and maintaining property for all the different tenures: owner occupation, council housing, housing association and private renting and discusses whether current arrangements are sustainable. Written for housing social policy and politics students and staff it is also accessible to anyone concerned about housing in Britain today.

Housing and the Credit Crunch Great Britain. Parliament. House of Commons. Communities and Local Government Committee, 2009 In this report the Communities and Local Government Committee says the Government must stick to its long term house building targets despite the credit crunch but a greater proportion of the homes built should be social housing. The Committee is concerned that the 975 million borrowed by the Government from its 2010-11 budgets to build social rented housing now is not new money and that the Government has been unable to say how that borrowing will be replaced. The Committee urges the Department for Communities and Local Government to put pressure on the Treasury to ensure measures to revive the mortgage markets are implemented immediately increase construction of new social housing both to provide for housing need and as a means of maintaining capacity in the homebuilding industry whilst the market recovers accelerate refurbishment programmes for social housing acquire further social housing through the purchase of unsold stock and street properties consider the purchase of unsold family homes which have been on the market for more than a year encourage public sector bodies to make land available for the development of new homes. The report also urges the Government to do more to help those at risk of repossession by considering sanctions against lenders who repossess too quickly and by doing more to protect tenants and homeowners from unscrupulous landlords An Office of Fair Trading recommendation for sale and rent back schemes should be implemented as a matter of urgency to protect the growing number of households falling behind in mortgage payments The Committee would like to see more done to support housing associations including increasing social housing grant where necessary
