Marius Alexander Forselius was born in Romania 1991 only a few years after the Romanian communist regime was overthrown in december 1989. He was adopted to Sweden in 1994 and got diagnostized with autism at five year age. In this book he explains the in and out of his life with his disorder and describes how his life have been until now with success and failures and strategies to success. One thing he explains is how he through meditation and physical exercise could defy the gravity and get in contact with his feminine spirit when he swim or meditate and how the different twists in his life have gave him new insights and strength. For example he explains about his water visualization meditation which helped her to find his inner soul after a fungal infection forced he to stop swimming and how his virtual bathing as he explains helped him to recover mentally from the fungal crisis and at the same time feel more confident in himself. With the computer as analogy he explains how his brain works like a computer system which iterates the whole tree structure without filter to he context and then being overload and freezes. And he also explains about his creative career in music and software engineer studies and how his music interest was the key to resolve the fungal crisis.
