Large-scale school meal programs and student health:

Evidence from rural China Wang, Jingxi,Hernandez, Manuel A.,Deng, Guoying,2021-03-18 Reducing urban rural gaps in child health and nutrition is one of the most difficult challenges faced by many countries This paper evaluates the impact of the Nutrition Improvement Program NIP a large scale school meal program in rural China on the health and nutritional status of compulsory education students aged 6 16 We use data from multiple rounds of the China Health and Nutrition Survey between 2004 2015 and implement a quasi experimental approach exploiting cross county variations in program implementation We find that NIP participation is on average associated with a higher height for age z score in the order of 0 22 0 42 standard deviations The impacts are larger among students in a better health condition but small or not significant among the most disadvantaged We do not observe heterogeneous effects across several individual and household characteristics We also do not find significant effects on Body Mass Index for age and weight for age z scores The results suggest that NIP partially improved students health over the first years of implementation but more support is needed to achieve broader impacts that effectively reach all vulnerable students Several robustness checks support our findings

García, 2008-10-01 Chicano Catholicism both as a popular religion and a foundation for community organizing has over the past century inspired Chicano resistance to external forces of oppression and discrimination including from other non Mexican Catholics and even the institutionalized church Chicano Catholics have also used their faith to assert their particular identity and establish a kind of cultural citizenship Based exclusively on original research and sources Mario T. García here offers the first major historical study to explore the various dimensions of the role of Catholicism in Chicano history in the twentieth century This is also one of the first significant studies in the still limited field of Chicano religious history Topics range from how early Chicano Catholic intellectuals and civil rights leaders were influenced by Catholic Social Doctrine to the role that popular religion has played in the lives of ordinary men and women in both rural and urban areas García also examines faith based Chicano community movements like Católicos Por La Raza in the 1960s and the Sanctuary movement in Los Angeles in the 1980s While Latino a history and culture has been for the most part inextricably linked with the tenets and practices of Catholicism there has been very little written until recently about Chicano Catholic history García helps to fill that void and explore the impact both positive and negative that the Catholic experience has had on the Chicano community
