Worlds of Journalism Thomas Hanitzsch, Folker Hanusch, Jyotika Ramaprasad, Arnold S. de Beer, 2019-06-18 How do journalists around the world view their roles and responsibilities in society Based on a landmark study that has collected data from more than 27 500 journalists in 67 countries Worlds of Journalism offers a groundbreaking analysis of the different ways journalists perceive their duties their relationship to society and government and the nature and meaning of their work Challenging assumptions of a universal definition or concept of journalism the book maps a world populated by a rich diversity of journalistic cultures Organized around a series of key questions on topics such as editorial autonomy journalistic ethics trust in social institutions and changes in the profession it details how the practice of journalism differs across the world in a range of political social and economic contexts The book covers how journalism as an institution is created and re created by journalists and how they experience their profession in very different ways even as they retain a commitment to some basic widely shared professional norms and practices It concludes with a global classification of journalistic cultures that reflects the breadth of worldviews and orientations found in disparate countries and regions Worlds of Journalism offers an ambitious comparative global understanding of the state of journalism in a time when it is confronting a series of economic and political threats Hybrid Investigative Journalism Maria Konow-Lund, Michelle Park, Saba

Bebawi, 2023-11-21 This open access book is a rare example of the ethnographic study of investigative journalism This book explores entrepreneurial attempts to combine traditional investigative journalism with alternative ways of organising this work It transcends watershed investigative projects in favour of the ways in which new actors citizens technologists bloggers and local reporters among others join experienced investigative journalists in experiments with the practices of watchdog journalism in the digital era Cases include Bristol Cable Bureau Local and the Korea Center for Investigative Journalism as well as Forbidden Stories The book also includes two chapters on the impact of COVID 19 upon the development of cross disciplinary work in a traditional newsroom and in the larger media ecosystems of both Norway and China This is a timely book for journalism students scholars and investigative reporters who share a passion for this form of journalism

The Shaping of News Julie Firmstone, 2023-09-23 This book provides readers with the understanding required to analyse the range of key factors that shape the production of news and to assess their implications for the role of news and journalism in democracy It brings existing research together under the umbrella of a central organising framework to explore how news and its production is shaped by a multiplicity of factors including the norms values role perceptions and ethics associated with journalism as a profession the role of news sources the changing character and significance of news audiences the aims and objectives of news organisations and the political economic and social contexts within which news is produced Exploring these factors in depth using examples and considering the changing conditions of news production the chapters chart significant changes challenges and responses to provide the essential background for understanding the consequences of current transformations for the democratic qualities of news

Media and Maltese Society Carmen Sammut, 2007 This seminal work is the first comprehensive analysis of the media landscape in the Mediterranean island of Malta It examines the media owned by political parties trade unions and the church and how they successfully compete for audiences with the public and private sectors Carmen Sammut explores institutional efforts to influence the information flow by means of field observations and in depth interviews in newsrooms These influences are further examined in an analysis of news content and discourse during the referendum campaign for European Union membership In a field where literature often overlooks small states Media and Maltese Society takes advantage of the small context to examine the communication circuit holistically observing traits that British and American journalism lost with the growth of media capitalism

Central and Eastern European Media in Comparative Perspective John Downey, Sabina Mihelj, 2016-04-15 Appearing more than twenty years after the revolutions in Central and Eastern Europe this book could not have come at a more appropriate time a time to take stock not only of the changes but also the continuities in media systems of the region since 1989 To what extent are media institutions still controlled by political forces To what extent are media markets operating in Central and Eastern Europe Do media systems in Central and Eastern Europe resemble media systems in other parts of Europe The answers to these questions are not the same for each country in the region Their experience is not homogeneous An international line up of distinguished experts and emerging scholars methodically examine the different economic political cultural and transnational factors affecting developments in media systems across Central and Eastern Europe Whereas earlier works in the media system tradition have in the main adopted the political framework of comparative politics the authors argue that media systems are also cultural and economic institutions and there are other critical variables that might explain certain outcomes better Topics discussed range from political economy to gender inequality to the study of ethno cultural diversity This unmatched volume gives you the unique opportunity to study the growing field of comparative media analysis across Eastern and Western Europe A valuable resource that goes beyond the field of media and cultural analysis which media scholars as well as to area specialists should not go without

The Oxford Encyclopedia of Journalism Studies Henrik Örnebring, 2020 Journalism is a field in tremendous flux social cultural economic and technological change is transforming every aspect of journalism from its production and distribution to its textual forms and reception The Oxford Encyclopedia of Journalism Studies offers authoritative reviews of state of the art research on a wide range of topics related to the current state of journalism Leading scholars from across the world present historically grounded and internationally oriented reviews on enduring topics in journalism studies e g the role of journalism in the political process in democracies as well as authoritarian states alongside overviews of scholarship on new phenomena and recent developments e g the increased role of algorithms in news production and consumption and the phenomenon of fake news The Oxford Encyclopedia of Journalism Studies is an indispensable tool for scholars students and professionals seeking research based knowledge about the contemporary news media landscape

Chall, 1998 CSA Sociological Abstracts abstracts and indexes the international literature in sociology and related disciplines in the social and behavioral sciences The database provides abstracts of journal articles and citations to book reviews drawn from over 1 800 serials publications and also provides abstracts of books book chapters dissertations and conference papers

Political Journalism in Transition Raymond Kuhn, Rasmus Kleis Nielsen, 2013-11-07 The 21st century has already seen dramatic changes affecting both journalism and politics The rise of a range of new digital and networked communication technologies combined with the stagnation and decline of many traditional mass media has had a profound impact on political journalism The arrival of new digital media has affected the ways in which political actors communicate with the public with or without journalists as intermediaries Newspapers that once held political leaders to account are now struggling to survive broadcasters that once gathered whole nations for the evening news are now fighting for relevance faced with innumerable new competitors on cable and digital television online only media such as blogs and social networking sites are changing how we communicate about politics News media remain central to political processes but the ways in which journalists and politicians interact are changing This book examines how and provides a comprehensive and comparative analysis of the state of political journalism in Western Europe today including the many challenges facing journalists in this important period of transition

Innovation Policies in the European News Media Industry Hans van Kranenburg, 2017-02-15 This book explores the importance and the types of media innovation policies formulated and implemented in various European countries Each country analysis illustrates the evolution and structure of news media markets and media cross ownership policies in recent years and evaluates how innovation policies stimulate innovative activities in journalism and news media. The main objective of this book is to promote discussion on how innovation policies can help the news media industry to meet development needs and requirements in the future. It will help scholars, politicians and practitioners in the media industry to identify best practices to support innovation in a rapidly changing news media landscape. New Media Politics Denis McQuail, Karen Siune, 1986 Innovations in Journalism Klaus Meier, Jose A. García-Avilés, Andy Kaltenbrunner, Colin Porlezza, Vinzenz Wyss, Renée Lugschitz, Korbinian Klinghardt, 2024-04-25 This volume explores innovations in journalism, the goals and expectations associated with them, promoting and hindering framework conditions and their social and industrial impact. Drawing on an international research project conducted in Germany, Austria, Switzerland, Spain and the United Kingdom, the book takes a complex approach considering media policy preconditions and the social impact of journalistic innovation from a comparative perspective. The key findings are examined and presented on different levels: theoretical, methodological and as the focus empirical. Having identified the most relevant innovations in each of the five countries, a total of 100 case studies are examined to explore the influence of these innovations on the quality of journalism and its normative role in democratic societies and to analyze which preconditions support or inhibit the development and implementation of the innovations in news organizations. The interdependencies between journalistic innovations and their media policy preconditions are compared in a system analytical way, concluding with the lessons that can be learned from the macrolevel policies and the mesolevel organizations. This insightful and truly international volume will interest professionals, scholars and students of journalism, media and communication studies, media industry studies and related fields. Europeans and the Media Andrea Miconi, 2024-08-13 This book investigates the relationship between the process of Europeanization, the expected rise of a common culture and the role played by the media in the different regions. Drawing on a comparative model, the analysis is structured around frameworks related to the action of the media in shaping national identities, to the world system theory based on the hierarchization of geographical spaces and to the regional patterns identified in scientific literature. The analysis draws on data collected from numerous markets and across a variety of media formats to detect the geographical pattern that results from the diffusion of different technologies and cultural contents: the national, the regional, the European and the global. This nuanced and insightful volume will interest students and scholars in the field of communication studies, European studies and comparative media studies. The Open Access version of this book is available at www.taylorfrancis.com and has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial CC BY NC 4.0 license.

Europe in the Media Deirdre Kevin, 2003 Europe in the Media draws together the results of several research projects that examined media coverage of European political and cultural affairs and media representations of Europe. The book attempts to outline some of the important debates regarding European integration and to describe the media landscape in which these debates are informed reflected and facilitated The research presented sought to answer several questions namely the role of the media in the democratic process at the European level and the extent to which the media contributes to and reflects the process of European integration The book provides a wide scope of comparative analysis allowing for an extremely interesting overview of the way that national media systems in France Germany Ireland Italy the Netherlands Poland Spain Sweden and the United Kingdom approach the issue of European integration Based on the news output of over 50 media outlets in eight countries this book contains the original data gathered by experts during two 1 week monitoring periods as well as data that was collected and coded by experts with reference to the programming of more than 12 major broadcasters in six countries This volume addresses debates and analysis from the fields of political science in relation to the process of European integration EU policymaking and public participation and opinion formation It also outlines relevant media theory regarding the relationships between the media and democracy and the media and identity formation In this way the book provides a valuable link between these two separate fields of investigation in an area that is of increasing interest to academics students politicians and journalists

Making the News Paschal Preston, 2008-10-27 Making the News provides a cross national perspective on key features of journalism and news making cultures and the changing media landscape in contemporary Europe Focusing on the key trends practices and issues in contemporary journalism and news cultures Paschal Preston maps the major contours of change as well as the broader industrial organizational institutional and cultural factors shaping journalism practices over the past two decades Moving beyond the tendency to focus on journalism trends and newsmaking practices within a single country Making the News draws on unique cross national research examining current journalism practices and related newsmaking cultures in eleven West Central and East European countries including in depth interviews with almost 100 senior journalists and subsequent workshop discussions with other interest groups Making the News links reviews and discussions of the existing literature to original research engaging with the views and experiences of journalists working at the coal face of contemporary newsmaking practices to provide an original study and useful student text

Beyond Journalistic Norms Claudia Mellado, 2020-10-07 Beyond Journalistic Norms contests and challenges pre established assumptions about a dominant type of journalism prevailing in different political economic and geographical contexts to posit the fluid and dynamic nature of journalistic roles The book brings together scholars from Western and Eastern Europe North America Latin America and Asia reporting findings based on data collected from democratic transitional and non democratic contexts to produce thematic chapters that address how journalistic cultures vary around the globe specifically in relation to challenges that journalists face in performing their journalistic roles The study measures compares and analyzes the materialization of the interventionist the watchdog the loyal facilitator the service the infotainment and the civic roles in more than 30 000 print news stories from 18 countries It also draws from hundreds of surveys with journalists to explain the link between ideals and practices and the conditions that shape this divide This book will be of great relevance to scholars and researchers working in the fields of journalism journalism practices philosophy of journalism sociology of media and comparative journalism research Comparing Journalistic Cultures Folker Hanusch,2020-05-21 This book offers an analysis of journalists professional views against a variety of political economic social cultural and linguistic contexts Based on data gathered for the Worlds of Journalism Study which conducted surveys with more than 27 000 journalists in 67 countries the authors explore aspects such as linguistic and religious influences on journalists identities journalists views of development journalism epistemic issues as well as the relationship between journalism and democracy Further the book provides a history of the evolution of the Worlds of Journalism Study as well as the challenges of conducting such comparative work across a wide range of contexts A critical review by renowned comparative studies scholar Jay Blumler offers food for thought for future endeavours This unprecedented collaborative effort will be essential reading for scholars and students of journalism who are interested in comparative approaches to journalism studies and who want to explore the wide variety of journalism cultures that exist around the globe It was originally published as a special issue of Journalism Studies Media, Democracy and European Culture Ib Bondebjerg,Peter Madsen,2008 Presents research on Europe from social political and cultural perspectives equally focusing on each dimension of democracy in Europe This book discusses the role of the media communication policy and the question of how the media report on Europe runs as a thread through various contributions New Media Politics Denis McQuail,Karen Siune,1988
