Nice Book Education East Asia Around World:

Confucian Tradition and Global Education Wm. Theodore de Bary, 2007-02-15 Professor de Bary argues in these three lectures that China's Confucian tradition is still relevant in the democratic and pluralistic world order of today. First, Confucian tradition values free discourse and the pursuit of knowledge. Second, he goes into further details of the content and method by which the Chinese classics can be restored to a place in a modern humanities curriculum relevant to a global horizon. Third, de Bary envisions a global curriculum of East books through translation. Throughout these lectures, one can see de Bary's passion as a humanist and an educator and one who has had tremendous experience in conceiving and editing the Introduction to Oriental Civilizations Series, which have had so much impact upon the teachings of Asia in America's colleges. Two additional chapters by Professors Tze-wan Kwan and Cheung Chan-fai on the issues of Tang Chun-i's concept of general education and language media in education respectively are added. The World's Religions Peter B. Clarke, Peter Beyer, 2009-05-07 This comprehensive volume focuses on the world's religions and the changes they have undergone as they become more global and diverse in form. It explores the religions of the world not only in the regions with which they have been historically associated but also looks at the new cultural and religious contexts in which they are developing. It considers the role of migration in the spread of religions by examining the issues raised for modern societies by the increasing interaction of different religions. The volume also addresses such central questions as the dynamics of religious innovation, which is evidenced in the rise and impact of new religious and new spirituality movements in every continent.

East Asia in the World Anne Prescott, 2015-05-15 From the Foundations in Global Studies series, this text offers students a fresh, comprehensive, multidisciplinary entry point to East Asia. After a brief introduction to the study of East Asia, the early chapters of the book survey the essentials of East Asian history, important historical narratives, and the region's languages, religions, and global connections. Students are guided through the material with relevant maps, resource boxes, and text boxes that support and guide further independent exploration of the topics at hand. The second half of the book features interdisciplinary case studies, each of which focuses on a specific country or region and a particular issue. Each chapter gives a flavor for the cultural distinctiveness of the particular country yet also draws attention to global linkages. Readers will come away from this book with an understanding of the larger historical, political, and cultural frameworks that shaped East Asia as we know it today and of current issues that have relevance in Asia and beyond. The Great Civilized Conversation Wm.

Theodore de Bary, 2014-11-04 Having spent decades teaching and researching the humanities, Wm. Theodore de Bary is well positioned to speak on its merits and reform. Believing a classical liberal education is more necessary than ever, he outlines in these essays a plan to update existing core curricula by incorporating classics from both Eastern and Western traditions, thereby bringing the philosophy and moral values of Asian civilizations to American students and vice versa. The author establishes a concrete link between teaching the classics of world civilizations and furthering global humanism. Selecting texts that share many of the same values and educational purposes he joins Islamic Indian Chinese Japanese and Western sources into a revised curriculum that privileges humanity and civility He also explores the tradition of education in China and its reflection of Confucian and Neo Confucian beliefs He reflects on history s great scholar teachers and what their methods can teach us today and he dedicates three essays to the power of The Analects of Confucius The Tale of Genji and The Pillow Book of Sei Shonagon in the classroom

Education in World History Mark S. Johnson, Peter N.

Stearns, 2022-09-01 Education in World History shows how broad currents in transnational history have interacted with trends in educational organization and teaching practices over time From antiquity and early classical societies to present day this book highlights the ways in which changes in religious and intellectual life and economic patterns in key world regions have generated developments in education Since the postclassical period cross cultural connections have also influenced educational change In more recent times transnational dialogues and mobility have played a vital role in shaping educational patterns Ranging through South and East Asia Africa Europe and the Americas the book also considers how the impact of modern forces such as industrialization and nationalism have transformed education in fundamental ways

Throughout the volume Mark S Johnson and Peter N Stearns emphasize the tensions between elite and state educational interests and more diverse popular demands for access and often for more innovative pedagogy Suitable for introductory world history and history of education courses this lively overview reconsiders the history of education from the perspective of world and comparative history

In Good Company Bede Benjamin Bidlack, 2015-02-04 In Good Company answers a question that has confounded Christian theologians What is the nature of the body that will enjoy resurrection at the end of time In this exciting work of comparative theology Bede Benjamin Bidlack derives a theory of the body from the French Jesuit Pierre Teilhard de Chardin by putting him in dialogue with the Song Dynasty Daoist Xiao Yingsou In addition to its contribution to comparative theology In Good Company offers the first translation of the preface of Xiao s commentary on the Duren jing in a Western language as well as a careful explication of the provocative mountain diagram therein Bidlack presents an original contribution for both scholars of Christian theology and Chinese religion An excellent example of comparative theology Bede Bidlack s In Good Company demonstrates how certain lacunae in one tradition may be addressed by drawing on resources from another religion Having identified a neglect of the body in the work of Pierre Teilhard de Chardin and in much of the Christian tradition of divinization Bidlack discusses the work of Daoist scholar Xiao Yingsou as a possible source of inspiration and theological imagination Catherine Cornille Newton College Alumnae Chair Professor of Comparative Theology Boston College In Good Company takes comparative theology to a new level it not only places Daoism front and center but also opens Christian spirituality to a wider dimension Concerned with the two core themes of the body and personal divinization or resurrection the book centers on the work of two influential thinkers in their traditions Teilhard de Chardin and Xiao Yingsou Although 800 years apart their visions of the body as the means to ultimate fulfillment in close relation to divinity and the cosmos as a whole powerfully enhance each other as do their understanding of the intricate process of personal divinization The book is challenging in its outlook unsettling in its destabilization of terms and brilliant in its interweaving of the two traditions A must for anyone concerned with the new global environment of religious pluralism and the ongoing process of interreligious dialogue Livia Kohn Professor Emerita of Religion East Asian Studies Boston University

Education in a Digital World Neil Selwyn, 2013 Drawing on a wealth of theoretical and empirical work Education in a Digital World tackles a number of pressing questions such as how are global trends in educational technology refracted through national policies and processes How exactly are educational technologies linked to issues of global economics and the fortunes of national and international economies To what extent are digital technologies implicated in the commercialisation marketization and commodification of education These questions and others are addressed throughout eight wide ranging chapters which consider topics such as the national policy strategies of countries across North and South America Europe and East Asia the educational technology portfolios of international organizations such as the United Nations and Microsoft as well as the role of education and technology in international development and the on going efforts to provide one laptop per child across low income regions and countries Through these examples Selwyn develops a detailed analysis of education technology and globalisation drawing together arguments and debates from various academic perspectives Written in a detailed but accessible manner this is an essential book for anyone wishing to gain a better understanding of the role of education and technology in contemporary globalised society The

'Global' and the 'Local' in Early Modern and Modern East Asia Benjamin A. Elman, Chao-Hui Jenny Liu, 2017-01-09 The Global and the Local in Early Modern and Modern East Asia presents a unique set of historical perspectives by scholars from two important universities in the East Asian region The University of Tokyo T dai and Fudan University along with East Asian Studies scholars from Princeton University Two of the essays address the international leanings in the histories of their respective departments in Todai and Fudan The rest of the essays showcase how such thinking about the global and local histories have borne fruit as the scholars of the three institutions contributed essays arguing about the philosophies methodologies and or perspectives of global history and how it relates to local stories Authors include Benjamin Elman Haneda Masashi and Ge Zhaoguang

Encyclopedia of Christianity in the Global South Mark A. Lamport, 2018-06-01 Christianity has transformed many times in its 2 000 year history from its roots in the Middle East to its presence around the world today From the mid twentieth century onward the presence of Christianity has increased dramatically in Asia Africa and Latin America and the majority of the world s Christians are now nonwhite and non Western The Encyclopedia of Christianity in the Global South traces both the historical evolution and contemporary themes in Christianity in more than 150 countries and regions The volumes include maps images and a detailed timeline of key events The phrases Global Christianity and World Christianity are inadequate to convey the complexity of the countries and regions involved this encyclopedia with its more than 500 entries aims to offer rich perspectives on the varieties of Christianity where it is growing how the spread of Christianity shapes the faith in various regions and how the faith is changing worldwide

History Education and National Identity in East Asia Edward Vickers, 2013-09-13 Visions of the past are crucial to the way that any community imagines itself and constructs its identity This edited volume contains the first significant studies of the politics of history education in East Asian societies

Great Powers, Climate Change, and Global Environmental Responsibilities Robert Falkner, Barry Buzan, 2022 This book is the first of its kind to examine the role of great powers in the international politics of climate change It develops a novel analytical framework for studying environmental power in international relations what counts as a great power in the environmental field and what their special environmental responsibilities are In doing so the book connects International Relations IR debates on power inequality great powers and great power management with global environmental politics GEP scholarship The book brings together leading scholars in IR and GEP whose contributions focus on major environmental powers United States China European Union India Brazil Russia and international institutions and issue areas UN Security Council multilateral environmental agreements international climate leadership coal politics The contributors to this volume examine how individual great powers have responded to the global climate challenge and whether they have accepted a special responsibility for stabilizing the global climate They place emerging discourses on great power responsibility in the context of wider debates about international environmental leadership and climate change securitization And they provide new insights into how international power inequality intersects with the global ecological crisis and what special role great powers could and should play in the international fight against global warming

Resources in Education, 2001-10 History, Politics and Theory in the Great Divergence Debate Olya Murphy, 2023-12-31 World history suffers from a paucity of clearly articulated convincing explanations While the rise of postmodernism and challenges to Eurocentrism did lead to some important correctives the pendulum has swung too far the other direction with a corresponding danger of throwing the baby out with the bathwater We need careful theoretically informed debates about ways of organizing world history What constitutes a good historical explanation What should guide historians to choose relevant facts Which theoretical schools could be made useful and to what ends These questions are especially relevant to the main topic of this book the great divergence between the west and the rest of the world and how this historical rupture is to be explained The book provides extensive critical analyses of some of the key claims in world history analyzing their strengths as well as their major weaknesses too often rooted in insufficient familiarity of historians with theories they discard It also historicizes the field and the debates to partly account for what caused some theories to become more influential and others to fall into oblivion despite the fact that the more influential frameworks are seriously flawed and some of the more marginalized ideas are more coherent and plausible The book offers insights regarding the theoretical and political relevance of older debates about the transition to capitalism and historical materialism Three major schools of thought in world history are critically examined through an in depth theoretical and comparative analysis that has not been undertaken elsewhere the so called California School World Systems Analysis and Marxist theories of history capitalism and the transition from feudalism to capitalism Murphy argues that despite some of the more recent criticisms of older approaches to world history the older theories remain indispensable for the writing of world history and for coming to terms with issues of global poverty inequality and eco catastrophe

Imperial Subjects as Global Citizens Mark Lincicome, 2009-02-16 Lincicome offers a new perspective on Japanese educational debates and policy reforms that have taken place under the guise of internationalization since the mid 1980s By contextualizing these developments within a historical framework spanning the entire twentieth century he challenges the argument put forward by education officials conservative politicians and their supporters in the academy and the business world that history offers no guide for addressing the educational challenges that face contemporary Japan Combining diachronic and synchronic approaches Lincicome analyzes repeated attempts throughout the twentieth century to internationalize education kyoiku no kokusaika in Japan This comparison reveals important similarities that transcend educational policy to encompass Japanese conceptions of individual national and international identity relations between the individual the nation the state and the international community and the type of education best suited to negotiating multiple identities among the next generation of Japanese subject citizens
