Special Report: Kuwait: Resilience & Management in Times of Crisis Peter Howson, Necessity has always been the mother of invention Time and again history has demonstrated that in times of hardship new opportunities emerge that have had a profound impact on what followed For Kuwait the arrival of COVID 19 as with everywhere else across the globe has presented an unprecedented type of challenge Kuwait's response as a country and its ability to rally together has not only mitigated the worst exigencies of the virus but poised Kuwait to be ready to thrive as the new normal is established This 24 page special report seeks to bring attention to the key themes that have emerged during this period as well as shine a spotlight on the core decision makers whose experiences help contextualise Kuwait's wider ability to navigate the pandemic

Mental Health and Work: New Zealand Collectif, 2018-12-13 Tackling mental health problems of the working age population is a key issue for labour market and social policies in OECD countries not just for health systems Governments increasingly recognise that policy has a major role to play in keeping people with mental health conditions in employment or bringing those outside of the labour market into it and in preventing mental illness This report on New Zealand is the tenth in a series of reports looking at how broader education health welfare and labour market policy challenges are being tackled in a number of countries The report is also the first one published after the endorsement of the OECD Recommendation of the Council on Integrated Mental Health Skills and Work Policy and assesses New Zealand's performance against the strategic policy framework agreed by all OECD countries The report concludes that awareness and policy thinking is well developed in New Zealand but that structural and institutional weaknesses limit the provision of timely integrated health and employment services with particularly disappointing outcomes for the indigenous population Against the background of the OECD Council Recommendation the report proposes improvements in policy development and policy implementation to make youth workplace health and welfare policies ready for the challenge

Health Anxiety and the Quest for Safety Márta Csabai, 2025-12-12 Health Anxiety and the Quest for Safety critically examines how psychological and sociocultural processes influence anxiety and safety seeking behaviour concerning perceived health risks in globalised information societies It provides insights into how people respond to uncertainty and perceived threats to their body and health in the age of anxiety In examining the history of health anxiety the author explores fluctuations in concepts highlighting the power dynamics uncertainties and biased social and scientific attitudes in the background The chapters offer a critical analysis of contemporary safety seeking strategies including online health information searches fad diets self tracking body image interventions and the pursuit of personal meaning and well being Additionally the book investigates how sociocultural influences can induce guilt about one's body and health promote self blame or foster stigmatising attitudes while emphasising how the emergence of psy culture pop psychology and digital tools may enhance health empowerment but also generate health related anxieties and deepen inequalities As a critical reflection on prevailing individualistic paradigms the work also considers concepts that emphasise resonance and connectedness This book is valuable reading for clinical and health psychologists critical social scientists researchers and students in the health sciences as well as practitioners in all healthcare settings psychotherapists and communication specialists
