Ranking Business Schools Linda Wedlin, 2006-01-01 In her admirable book Wedlin entangles what business school rankings really are and why they have become so important The book contains plenty to interest the growing army of business school employees whose duties at least in part are concerned with boosting their institution's position in the rankings Education and Training In times when the management education field is increasingly impacted by a proliferation of ranking exercises this book is a timely and welcome contribution Linda Wedlin unpacks for us the real meaning of the contemporary explosion of rankings Rather than simple classification schemes and mechanisms rankings are she suggests arenas where the field of business education is being created and re created They are the loci of boundary work whereby a field is progressively evolving and constituting itself This is a convincing study relying on rich empirical data and carefully anchored in relevant theoretical debates A must read for all those academics students policy makers and education professionals who want to understand the complex contemporary logics of higher education in management but also probably well beyond Marie Laure Djelic ESSEC Business School Paris France League tables appear everywhere and have become important aspects of business school environments Based on in depth and creatively combined empirical studies Linda Wedlin provides us with explanations and insights on the emergence and impact of such rankings This book should be of great value for all those who seek to play the ranking game It gives a fresh perspective on how classification mechanisms drive the emergence boundary setting and change of organizational fields Kerstin Sahlin Andersson Uppsala University Sweden A fascinating study of the complex issues surrounding MBA rankings Business schools really hate them but at times have to pretend to love them Magazines and newspapers are really interested in their sales potential but have to make pretensions about their veracity Linda Wedlin focuses on an area rich in hypocrisy and hype but also one where there are real consequences ranking furthered re inforces the homogenising tendencies of MBAs Anthony Hopwood Sa d Business School University of Oxford UK This is a most fascinating topic dealt with in a manner which is both serious and entertaining everyone in a business school would want to read it Linda Wedlin's excellent research is presented with a no nonsense approach if there is anything worth counting she counts it and then interprets it no fuss Exemplary Barbara Czarniawska Gteborg University Sweden This engaging book offers a fresh perspective on the burgeoning field of European management education and its intense concern with rankings Using a creative mix of well crafted research tools Wedlin deftly captures a professional field in transition as it both expands and develops shared standards Walter W Powell Stanford University US International comparisons and rankings of universities and business schools have proliferated in recent years Ranking Business Schools provides a welcome analysis of this development and its implications for the field of management education theorizing the role of classifications such as rankings in forming and structuring organizational fields Focusing on the European experience with rankings and the subsequent response the book illustrates how business schools use rankings to form identities and positions and to draw boundaries for the field By both creating and confirming belonging to a business school community and providing distinction within that group rankings are important for defining an international field of management education organizations constructing an international business school market and constitute an arena for debating and establishing the boundaries of this field Building an extensive theoretical framework for understanding classification

Robin Hood Maths Noah Giansiracusa,2025-08-07 Big companies are using maths to take from the poor and give to the rich Maths professor Noah Giansiracusa shows how you can beat the system using simple hacks anyone can learn See what the algorithms are trying to hide from you and even better take back your own decision making power Jordan Ellenberg author of How Not to Be Wrong In today s data driven world maths is a weapon wielded by banks insurance companies tech firms and government agencies These organizations use sophisticated algorithms to calculate odds make predictions uncover patterns manage risk and optimize actions And they treat you as another number to crunch along the way Robin Hood Maths explains the mathematical methods these companies and agencies use to manipulate and profit off of you It s easy to assume these algorithms are too complex to even understand let alone use for yourself But maths professor Noah Giansiracusa makes the compelling case that anyone can use these same methods without any special training He offers simple hacks and streamlined formulas for beating the number crunchers at their own game MAKE BETTER INVESTMENTS TAKE CONTROL OF YOUR SOCIAL MEDIA HANDLE RISK RATIONALLY With Professor Giansiracusa as your guide you ll learn how to reclaim agency over the decisions you make every day In a society designed to take from the poor and give to the rich maths has the potential to be a powerful democratizing force Robin Hood Maths gives you the tools you need to think for yourself act in your own best interest and thrive

The Business of Higher Education John C. Knapp Ph.D., David J. Siegel, 2009-10-22 At a time of great economic uncertainty The Business of Higher Education looks at the pros and cons of colleges and universities taking a more business like approach to fulfilling their missions How can colleges and universities navigate their way between shrinking commitments and the increasing expectations of their students Does the answer lie in taking a more business like approach This extraordinary resource considers the costs and benefits to both public and private institutions and to society when academe embraces business models for improving cost efficiency marketing hiring practices and customer service Bringing together a diverse team of contributors from the academic and business worlds The Business of Higher Education offers 35 essays in three volumes The first volume explores issues of leadership and culture the second focuses on management and fiscal strategies and the third volume takes up issues of marketing and consumer interests Throughout the work balances the contrasting perspectives of those within the academy and those outside of it as it considers whether higher education and the public interest are ultimately helped or harmed by the application of business methods to essential academic functions

Like Nobody's Business Andrew C. Comrie, 2021-02-23 How do university finances really work From flagship public research universities to small private liberal arts colleges there are few aspects of these institutions associated with more confusion myths or lack of understanding than how they fund themselves and function in the business of higher education Using simple approachable explanations supported by clear illustrations this book takes the reader on an engaging and enlightening tour of how the money flows How does the university really pay for itself Why do tuition and fees rise so fast Why do universities lose money on research Do most donations go to athletics Grounded in hard data original analyses and the practical experience of a seasoned administrator this book provides refreshingly clear answers and comprehensive insights for anyone on or off campus who is interested in the business of the university how it earns its money how it spends it and how it all works

Second Class No Longer Phillip L. Beukema, 2023-10-19 No one could have predicted thirty years ago that online learning would become such a key facet of our educational landscape in nearly every corner of the world Online teaching and learning have evolved rapidly and far more widely than imaginable accompanied by huge impacts on business society and our entire educational enterprise Drawing on his extensive experience in online teaching at both the graduate and undergraduate level as well as his 25 years in higher education administration the author paints a global picture of the evolution of online education He describes how one country after another has witnessed the astonishing growth of online degrees and microcredentials of all kinds Along the way he dispels the myths and misperceptions that have grown up around online learning With incisive analysis built on solid data the author demonstrates that online programs are no longer regarded as second class but in fact are fully in the mainstream of higher education Not only that but he predicts that by 2030 they will become the gold standard by which the more traditional degrees will be judged Robin Hood Math Noah Giansiracusa,2025-08-05 How the rich and powerful use math to exploit you and what you can do to beat them at their own game Everything we do today is recorded as data that's sold to the highest bidder Plugging our personal data into impersonal algorithms has made government agencies more efficient and tech companies more profitable But all this comes at a price It's easy to feel like an insignificant number in a world of number crunchers who care more about their bottom line than your humanity It's time to flip the equation turning math into an empowering tool for the rest of us Award winning mathematician Noah Giansiracusa explains how the tech giants and financial institutions use formulas to get ahead and how anyone can use these same formulas in their everyday life You'll learn how to handle risk rationally make better investments take control of your social media and reclaim agency over the decisions you make each day In a society that all too often takes from the poor and gives to the rich math can be a vital democratizing force Robin Hood Math helps you to think for yourself act in your own best interests and thrive Taking Time Off Colin Hall,Princeton Review (Firm),2003 Have you ever thought about taking time off to ride your bike across the United States conduct research in the Amazonian rain forest work on a presidential campaign build houses for the poor Tens of thousands of students each year take a break before or even during college to work travel volunteer or do something just plain different No matter what you may plan to do with your time away Taking Time Off shows you how to make the most of it Included are the inspiring stories of 26 students whose pursuits in their time away from school were fulfilling and enjoyable You'll find practical advice on every aspect of planning a break from researching your options and financing your leave to convincing your parents it's a worthy idea This book's resources section also lists programs jobs and American and international organizations that can help you to plan your own time off Business Schools post-Covid-19 Andreas Kaplan,2023-06-07 It all began when the world's first business school the European School of Commerce Paris ESCP was established in 1819 Criticism notwithstanding business schools have since continued their path in higher education without facing existential metamorphoses Covid 19 however has accelerated business schools digital transformation calling into question the concept of business school itself Business schools are in a new competitive landscape and profound structural changes seem inevitable This concise text offers insights into how business schools should rethink their approach to management education differentiate themselves from new players in the higher education market and find innovative ways of doing things The book is a survival toolkit for leadership teams across the world It examines the rationale of business school and how it has evolved The purpose of research is explained and the teaching of management is explored Kaplan analyzes the current business model in the digital environment He looks at the business of accreditations and rankings and branding and community building as strategies to address competition The book concludes by looking at change leadership at business schools It will interest both leaders of established academic institutions and alternative educational providers from edtech and big tech planning to enter the management education market
