The Pricing-Out Phenomenon in the U.S. Housing Market Francesco Beraldi, Mr. Yunhui Zhao, 2023-01-06 The COVID 19 pandemic further extended the multi year housing boom in advanced economies and emerging markets alike against massive monetary easing during the pandemic In this paper we analyze the pricing out phenomenon in the U S residential housing market due to higher house prices associated with monetary easing We first set up a stylized general equilibrium model and show that although monetary easing decreases the mortgage payment burden it would raise house prices lower housing affordability for first time homebuyers and increase housing wealth inequality between first time and repeat homebuyers We then use the U S household level data to quantify the effect of the house price change on housing affordability relative to that of the interest rate change We find evidence of the pricing out effect for all homebuyers moreover we find that the pricing out effect is stronger for first time homebuyers than for repeat homebuyers The paper highlights the importance of accounting for general equilibrium effects and distributional implications of monetary policy while assessing housing affordability It also calls for complementing monetary easing with well targeted policy measures that can boost housing affordability particularly for first time and lower income households Such measures are also needed during aggressive monetary tightening given that the fall in house prices may be insufficient or too slow to fully offset the immediate adverse impact of higher rates on housing affordability

Macroeconomics, second edition Alan J. Auerbach, Laurence J. Kotlikoff, 1998-07-31 Many undergraduate texts treat macroeconomics as a set of distinct topics rather than as a unified body of theory and empirical findings In contrast this text by Alan Auerbach and Laurence Kotlikoff uses a single analytic framework the two period life cycle model to explore and connect each of the major issues in contemporary macroeconomics. The model describes the evolution of the economy over time in terms of the behavior of overlapping generations of individuals each of whom lives for two periods youth and old age. This versatile framework can encompass most macroeconomic schools of thought through the alteration of key assumptions. The use of one basic model also allows the authors to explore important topics not always addressed adequately in other texts these include credit constraints real business cycles generational accounting and international capital flows markets. Written in a clear accessible style this shortened and simplified second edition provides a systematic way to interpret macroeconomic outcomes to understand various policy proposals and to appreciate how individuals and firms fit into the big picture.

Mortgage arrears and access to mortgage finance Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Treasury Committee, 2009-08-08 This report focuses on households affected by the recession struggling with mortgage arrears or at risk of repossession. The role of the Financial Services Authority (FSA) is also scrutinised. The report notes that both mortgage arrears and repossession levels are on an upward trend and that both are expected to continue rising over the next few years as a result of the recession. The Committee acknowledges that many mainstream lenders are taking pro active steps to support consumers in mortgage difficulties but expresses concern at the lack of flexibility and forbearance shown by some lenders in the sub prime specialist and second charge sectors towards homeowners in arrears and the fact that some lenders are charging high and excessive mortgage arrears fees to customers who fall into mortgage difficulties. The FSA should take a much more robust stance towards tackling and eliminating unfair arrears charges. The report criticises the seemingly leisurely approach of the FSA in terms of completing its mortgage arrears review and enforcing possible breaches in the mortgage arrears rules. It calls upon the FSA to spell out clearly in its forthcoming review how it will improve its performance in terms of bringing miscreant firms to book. The report recommends that the Government re-examine its longer term strategy towards supporting homeowners in mortgage difficulties to ensure that adequate mechanisms to support homeowners are in place even once the current downturn has ended.
