Flood Risk Assessment and Management Andreas H. Schumann, 2011-01-04 Flood catastrophes which happened world wide have shown that it is not sufficient to characterize the hazard caused by the natural phenomenon flood with the well known 3M approach measuring mapping and modelling Due to the recent shift in paradigms from a safety oriented approach to risk based planning it became necessary to consider the harmful impacts of hazards The planning tasks changed from attempts to minimise hazards towards interventions to reduce exposure or susceptibility and nowadays to enhance the capacities to increase resilience Scientific interest shifts more and more towards interdisciplinary approaches which are needed to avoid disaster This book deals with many aspects of flood risk management in a comprehensive way As risks depend on hazard and vulnerabilities not only geophysical tools for flood forecasting and planning are presented but also socio economic problems of flood management are discussed Starting with precipitation and meteorological tools to its forecasting hydrological models are described in their applications for operational flood forecasts considering model uncertainties and their interactions with hydraulic and groundwater models With regard to flood risk planning regionalization aspects and the options to utilize historic floods are discussed New hydrological tools for flood risk assessments for dams and reservoirs are presented Problems and options to quantify socio economic risks and how to consider them in multi criteria assessments of flood risk planning are discussed This book contributes to the contemporary efforts to reduce flood risk at the European scale Using many real world examples it is useful for scientists and practitioners at different levels and with different interests

Online TV Catherine Johnson, 2019-01-04 With growth in access to high speed broadband and 4G and increased ownership of smartphones tablets and internet connected television sets the internet has simultaneously begun to compete with and transform television Online TV argues that these changes create the conditions for an emergent internet era that challenges the language and concepts that we have to talk about television as a medium In a wide ranging analysis Catherine Johnson sets out a series of conceptual frameworks designed to provide a clearer language with which to analyse the changes to television in the internet era and to bring into focus the power dynamics of the online TV industry From providing definitions of online TV and the online TV industry to examining the ways in which technology rights interfaces and algorithms are used to control and constrain access to audiovisual content Online TV is a timely intervention into debates
