Pursuant to H. Con. Res. 71 United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on the Budget,2017 Hungary International Monetary Fund. European Dept.,2024-08-02 Hungary is emerging from a period of shocks The pandemic Russia s war in Ukraine and crisis related stimulus widened fiscal and external imbalances and triggered double digit inflation in 2022 Thanks to an effective monetary policy response aided by falling commodity prices and a tighter fiscal stance in 2023 inflation came down significantly while the labor market and financial sector remained resilient A large current account deficit in 2022 turned into a surplus and output is starting to recover However significant challenges remain The fiscal deficit and public debt to GDP ratios are well above 2019 levels and various windfall taxes have created investor uncertainty Interest rate caps and subsidized lending measures have distorted market rates and a significant state presence in key sectors impedes competition Tax Policy Reforms 2024 OECD and Selected Partner Economies OECD,2024-09-30 economy EMDE This suggests the need for improved tax policy and administration Until fiscal positions have strengthened the burden of climate adaptation will disproportionately fall on the private sector If allowed sufficient flexibility private sector adaptation could offset about one third of the likely climate damage by 2050 This may however require governments to remove obstacles that prevent workers and firms from moving across locations and activities As growth prospects dim the challenge grows to create jobs for South Asia s rapidly expanding working age population South Asia s large diasporas could become a source of strength if their knowledge networks and other resources can be better tapped for investment and trade
