studies overlaps with theories of postmodernism the social construction of self commodification in late capitalism and the role of mass media in daily life New forms of consumption such as those facilitated by cyberspace themed environments the commodification of sex and the increasing role of leisure in society all play new and interesting roles in daily life that combine consumerism with the most contemporary social forms This collection of essays examines the recent ways in which consumerism has been approached by cultural studies with special emphasis given to these and other newly emerging topics The book is divided into three parts The first part provides a theoretical overview of consumption studies dealing with classical and more contemporary approaches in light of the debate between advocates and critics of postmodernism In this section there are papers on McDonaldization tourism and cultural studies and the Theory of Shopping The second part emphasizes empirical studies of the commodification process Papers address the transformation of womenOs bodies and the mass commodification of milk the creation of the toddler as a subject and the commodification of childhood the
