Box Office, 1958 Revenue Act of 1932 United States. Senate. Finance Committee, 1932 Ticket Scalping Kerry Segrave, 2006-11-15 Ticket scalping is as much an American staple as apple pie Beginning as early as the mid 1800s scalpers known as sidewalk men were charging all the traffic would bear for event tickets Although these speculators were generally viewed as pariahs and public opinion was against the practice legal attempts to limit their activities were far from successful Boston enacted laws as early as 1873 while Pennsylvania followed suit in 1884 Still such measures did little good since some laws were declared unconstitutional and for the ones that were upheld the fines were negligible with jail time rarely served Over the years as moral objections to scalping dimmed the public became more tolerant as the practice became increasingly prevalent By the 1990s the capitalist mantras of free market and economic principles of supply and demand were even being used to justify the practice This volume details the ways in which scalping has changed over the years from a one man business to an agency controlled enterprise from performances by Jenny Lind to Billy Joel The book examines the general situation public opinion and legal perception of scalping for four distinct periods 1850 1899 1900 1917 1918 1949 and 1950 2005 Emphasis is placed on the ways in which public and legal perception of the practice has evolved over this period Scalping slowly gaining a more positive status has become more accepted as part of the economic practice of free markets

What Movies Teach about Race Roslyn M. Satchel, 2016-11-29 What Movies Teach about Race Exceptionalism Erasure Entitlement reveals the way that media frames in entertainment content persuade audiences to see themselves and others through a prescriptive lens that favors whiteness These media representations threaten democracy as conglomeration and convergence concentrate the media's global influence in the hands of a few corporations By linking film's political economy with the movie content in the most influential films this critical discourse study uncovers the socially shared cognitive structures that the movie industry passes down from one generation to another Roslyn M Satchel encourages media literacy and proposes an entertainment media cascading network activation theory that uncovers racialized rhetoric in media content that cyclically begins in historic ideologies influences elite discourse embeds in media systems produces media frames and representations shapes public opinion and then is recycled and perpetuated generationally

In Theaters Everywhere Brian Hannan, 2019-01-09 Conflicts among Hollywood studios and exhibitors have been going on for years At their heart are questions about how films should be released where when and at what speed Both sides of this disagreement are losers with exhibitors using the law via various Consent Decrees and studios retaliating by tightly controlling output In the Silent Era movies were not released nearly as widely as they are now This book tells the story of how the few became the many It explores the contraction of the release cycle the maximization of the marketing dollar and the democratization of consumer access It also offers a comprehensive list of wide releases and rebuts much of what previous scholars have found
