Acceleration of EDA Algorithms Sunil P Khatri, Kanupriya Gulati, 2010-03-11 Single threaded software applications have ceased to see significant gains in performance on a general purpose CPU even with further scaling in very large scale integration VLSI technology This is a significant problem for electronic design automation EDA applications since the design complexity of VLSI integrated circuits ICs is continuously growing In this research monograph we evaluate custom ICs old programmable gate arrays FPGAs and graphics processors as platforms for accelerating EDA algorithms instead of the general purpose single threaded CPU. We study applications which are used in key time consuming steps of the VLSI design flow. Further, these applications also have different degrees of inherent parallelism in them. We study both control dominated EDA applications and control plus data parallel EDA applications. We accelerate these applications on these different hardware platforms. We also present an automated approach for accelerating certain uniprocessor applications on a graphics processor. This monograph compares custom ICs, FPGAs and graphics processing units (GPUs) as potential platforms to accelerate EDA algorithms. It also provides details of the programming model used for interfacing with the GPUs.

The 21st Century in 100 Games Aditya Deshbandhu, 2024-06-20 The 21st Century in 100 Games is an interactive public history of the contemporary world. It creates a ludological retelling of the 21st century through 100 games that were announced, launched and played from the turn of the century. The book analyzes them and then uses the games as a means of entry to examine both key events in the 21st century and the evolution of the gaming industry. Adopting a tri-pronged perspective, the reviewer, the academic and an industry observer, it studies games as ludo-narratological artefacts and resituates games in a societal context by examining how they affect and are engaged with by players, reviewers, the gaming community and the larger gaming industry.
