Hopelessly Alien Louis Corsino, 2024-05-01 Hopelessly Alien is an in depth study of Italian immigration to Chicago Heights Illinois between 1910 and 1950 Drawing upon oral histories interviews historical documents and census materials Louis Corsino examines the critical concept of hope which most immigration studies have cast in privatized psychological terms as the motivation to emigrate in search of a better life This investigation offers a more contentious sociological perspective depicting hope as both an ideological lure to recruit and manage the foreign element and as a resource immigrants employed to purchase acceptance and avoid a disparaging label as a hopelessly alien stranger These dialectical processes are illustrated through the Italian immigrants pursuit of occupational mobility and homeownership and the appropriation of their children's hopes Each became forms of cultural capital that demonstrated a public commitment to the American ethos of joyful striving Each provided measures of success but these individual pursuits came at the expense of upsetting the necessary tension between individual and communal hopes

Beyond Isabella Sheryl E. Reiss, David G. Wilkins, 2001-06-01 Who were the secular female patrons of art and architecture in Renaissance Italy beyond Isabella d'Este This volume brings together fourteen essays which examine the important and often unrecognized roles aristocratic and bourgeois women played in the patronage of visual culture during the Italian Renaissance Themes include the significance of role models for female patrons the dynamics of conjugal patronage and the widespread patronage activities of widows Collectively the essays demonstrate how resourceful women expressed themselves through patronage despite the limitations of a highly structured patriarchal society Thus Isabella d'Este was by no means unique as a secular female patron and the studies offered here should encourage scholars to move further beyond Isabella in their assessment of women's patronage of art and architecture in Renaissance Italy

The Need to Help Liisa H. Malkki, 2015-09-03 In The Need to Help Liisa H. Malkki shifts the focus of the study of humanitarian intervention from aid recipients to aid workers themselves The anthropological commitment to understand the motivations and desires of these professionals and how they imagine themselves in the world out there led Malkki to spend more than a decade interviewing members of the international Finnish Red Cross as well as observing Finns who volunteered from their homes through gifts of handwork The need to help she shows can come from a profound neediness the need for aid workers and volunteers to be part of the lively world and something greater than themselves and in the case of the elderly who knit trauma teddies and aid bunnies for needy children the need to fight loneliness and loss of personhood In seriously examining aspects of humanitarian aid often dismissed as sentimental or trivial Malkki complicates notions of what constitutes real political work She traces how the international is always entangled in the domestic whether in the shape of the need to leave home or handmade gifts that are an aid to sociality and to the imagination of the world Catalog of Copyright Entries Library of Congress.
