Space Strategy and Military Doctrine Bert Chapman, 2025-07-24 Examining open access civilian and military space policy strategy and doctrine documents this book highlights emerging trends and developments in military space strategy Bert Chapman collects public documents from Australia Canada the European Union NATO the United States and the United Kingdom from 2017 onward to illustrate space's critical importance to national and international security and to multiple areas of civilian economic and personal use including climate change food security personal and global communications and the potential for expanded space exploration In light of recent revelations that Russia may be capable and desirous of exploding nuclear weapons in space to damage civilian and military space based infrastructures of the U S and other countries and China's increasing space assertiveness and capabilities it is more important than ever that civilian readers have the access and background knowledge necessary to parse publicly available documents relating to space strategy so that they may effectively participate in the legislative and regulatory policymaking processes of their governments The Security of Iceland and the Arctic 2030 Robert P. Wheelersburg, 2022-03-16 This book outlines a recommended Icelandic security force as part of the country's defence against sub strategic threats such as human trafficking by criminals or border incursions by other states It also tests the recommended security force through the development of four different hypothetical scenarios in the year 2030 designed to show the force's successful implementation Melting of the Arctic ice pack and the opening of the Transpolar Sea Route around 2025 could lead to an increase in traffic into the North Atlantic from the Pacific and vice versa That movement is predicted to bring a massive influx of tourists business interests and government entities into the region Along with legitimate uses of the new shipping lanes the opportunity for terrorists criminals and rogue states to travel in and around the Arctic could lead to increased smuggling violence and sovereignty disputes i e seizing uninhabited terrain A review of Iceland's current security policies indicates that the parliament provided the legal framework to create the recommended security force with the 2016 Parliamentary Resolution establishing a National Security Policy for Iceland Many scholars and government officials believe that the Iceland public would not support a security force culturally Yet recent surveys reveal that many Icelanders could accept a security force to protect them from sub strategic threats especially if the increased security could be attained without the intervention of foreign military forces The recommended security force utilizes Icelandic search and rescue volunteers and Reservists to increase the protection of the country funded by its full NATO contribution Official U.S. Army Chemical, Biological, Radiological, and Nuclear Operations Field Manual Department of the Army, 2024-05-07 The Official U S Army Chemical Biological Radiological and Nuclear Operations Field Manual is the newest edition of this critical U S Army field manual about the nuclear chemical and biological threats to our military members and civilians and covering a soldier's or anyone's use of protective gear and equipment to make himself and herself and their families safe The United States Army must adapt to new threats and overcome 15 years of atrophy of chemical biological radiological and nuclear skills within the Army due to a focus in recent years on operations in counterinsurgency During this time it ignored new forms of battle being exercised and conducted by major regional players such as Russia China Iran and North Korea The proliferation of new technologies to include weapons of mass destruction WMD capabilities and materials will remain a constant during the coming years The Army and joint forces MUST adapt and prepare for the use of these new technologies Civilians must prepare too The Official U S Army Chemical Biological Radiological and Nuclear Operations Field Manual is must reading

A Human Security Doctrine for Europe Marlies Glasius, Mary Kaldor, 2006-01-16 A Human Security Doctrine for Europe explores the actual needs of individual people in conflict areas rather than using a conventional institutional or geo political perspectives This new volume proposes that Europe should develop a new kind of human security capability that involves the military the police and civilians all working together to enforce law rather than to fight wars It argues that threats such as weapons of mass destruction or terrorism can only be countered if we address the insecurity of people in all parts of the world Many people in the world lead intolerably insecure lives In large parts of Africa the Balkans Central Asia and the Middle East men and women live in daily fear of violent attacks kidnapping rape extortion robbery or trafficking The existence of large military apparatuses does not create security indeed as in Iraq the use of regular military forces may only make things worse This stimulating study includes two chapters setting out the changed global context and proposing new approaches to security five regional studies on the Balkans the Great Lakes Region the Middle East the South Caucasus and West Africa four studies on different aspects of EU security policy including the legal setting the role of women operational principles and the role of the new member states four operational studies on capabilities resources and institutional embedding Written by a diverse team of international experts this book will be of strong interest to students and researchers of security studies peace studies human rights and international relations
