students to source material that forms the basis of historical scholarship <http://www.wadsworth.com> Time and Space in the Internet Age Stephen Kern, 2024-08-01 This book analyzes how new technologies transformed life and thought between two periods 1880-1920 and 1980-2020 with a focus on temporal experiences of past, present, future and the spatial experiences of form, distance and direction. The signature contrast is between experiences of time and space transformed by the telephone in the earlier period and the Internet in the later period along with other sharp contrasts: the sinking of the Lusitania in 1915 and the attack on the World Trade Center on 9/11, World War I and the Gulf Wars, gravity bombs and smart bombs, the pandemics of 1918 and 2020, assembly lines and flexible production, Farmer's Almanacs and computer-based weather predictions, cash transactions and one-click ordering, decolonization and globalization, internationalism and planetarity. The book also makes three interpretive arguments: the Epistemological Argument covers how greater knowledge introduced uncertainties; the Ethical Argument tracks how new technologies prompted ethical judgments about their value; and the Re-hierarchizing Argument tracks the erosion of spatial hierarchies, most notably in religion, society and politics with the increasing progress of secularization, social mobility and democratization. Time and Space in the Internet Age is a thought-provoking study for academics and general readers interested in the history of technology and science.

The Handbook of European Communication History Klaus Arnold, Paschal Preston, Susanne Kinnebrock, 2019-08-08 A groundbreaking handbook that takes a cross-national approach to the media history of Europe of the past 100 years. The Handbook of European Communication History is a definitive and authoritative handbook that fills a gap in the literature to provide a coherent and chronological history of mass media, public communication and journalism in Europe from 1900 to the late 20th century. With contributions from teams of scholars and members of the European Communication Research and Education Association, the Handbook explores media innovations, major changes and developments in the media systems that affected public communication as well as societies and culture. The contributors also examine the general trends of communication history and review debates related to media development. To ensure a transnational approach to the topic, the majority of chapters are written not by a single author but by international teams formed around one or more lead authors. The Handbook goes beyond national perspectives and provides a basis for more cross-national treatments of historical developments in the field of mediated communication. Indeed, this important Handbook offers fresh insights on the development of media alongside key differences between countries, regions or media systems over the past century. Takes a fresh cross-national approach to European media history. Contains contributions from leading international scholars in this rapidly evolving area of study. Explores the major innovations, key developments, differing trends and the important debates concerning the media in the European setting. Written for students and academics of communication and media studies as well as media professionals. The Handbook of European Communication History covers European media from 1900 with the emergence of the popular press to the professionalization of journalists and the first wave of multimedia with the advent of film and radio broadcasting through the rapid growth of the Internet and digital media since the late 20th century 1808
