Viljoen, 2013-11-26 Situations of serious or massive violations of human rights are no longer purely of domestic concern and sovereignty can no longer be an absolute shield for repressive governments in such circumstances Based on this realization the international community has recognized a responsibility to protect individuals in states where their governments are unable or unwilling to provide protection against the most serious violations However so far only one intergovernmental organization the African Union AU has explicitly made the right to intervene in a Member State part of its foundational text in Article 4 h of its Constitutive Act Although there have been cases of Article 4 h type interventions in Africa the AU Assembly has not yet invoked Article 4 h explicitly This book brings together experts in the field to explore the potential application of Article 4 h and the complexities that may explain its non invocation so far Although Article 4 h is noble in purpose its implementation faces several legal and policy challenges given that the use of force penetrates the principles of state sovereignty and non intervention the very cornerstones upon which the AU is founded This book considers these issues as well as the need to reconcile Article 4 h in so far as it allows the AU to exercise military intervention to protect populations at risk of mass atrocities with the provisions of the Charter of the United Nations Drawing from the insights of law political science diplomacy and military strategy the book offers a unique combination of multi disciplinary expertise that harnesses the views of a diverse group of authors focused on the legal policy and practical insights on the implementation of Article 4 h and the responsibility to protect in Africa in order to provide concrete recommendations on how to end mass atrocities on the continent Understanding International Conflict Management Charity Butcher, Maia Carter Hallward, 2019-11-28 This new textbook introduces key mechanisms and issues in international conflict management and engages students with a comprehensive interdisciplinary approach to mitigating managing and transforming international conflicts The volume identifies key historical events and international agreements that have shaped and defined the field of international conflict

Furley, 2017-10-05 This title was first published in 2002 Examining the recent phenomenon in conflicts in Africa this text addresses situations where African states and African military intervene in conflicts either in neighbouring states or beyond While this trend has been widely observed this is the first in depth research that deals with such issues It breaks new ground in identifying the key issues actors and actions and includes analysis of military capacities of African states and the way in which armies are used including the increasing role of private security companies and mercenaries The changing attitudes among members of the OAU are examined in particular the increasing acceptance of interventionism and the blurring of boundaries The most significant cases of intervention are examined together with less well documented examples such as Lesotho and Guinea Bissau This engaging account makes for a compelling resource for academics and practitioners alike
