Pro-active Dynamic Vehicle Routing Francesco Ferrucci, 2013-03-14 This book deals with transportation processes denoted as the Real time Distribution of Perishable Goods RDOPG The book presents three contributions that are made to the field of transportation First a model considering the minimization of customer inconvenience is formulated Second a pro active real time control approach is proposed Stochastic knowledge is generated from past request information by a new forecasting approach and is used in the pro active approach to guide vehicles to request likely areas before real requests arrive there Various computational results are presented to show that in many cases the pro active approach is able to achieve significantly improved results Moreover a measure for determining the structural quality of request data sets is also proposed The third contribution of this book is a method that is presented for considering driver inconvenience aspects which arise from vehicle en route diversion activities Specifically this method makes it possible to restrict the number of performed vehicle en route diversion activities of generating traffic and congestion patterns by following individual synthetic travelers through their daily or weekly activity programme. It has since then evolved from a collection of stand alone C programs to an integrated Java based framework which is publicly hosted open source available automatically regression tested. It is currently used by about 40 groups throughout the world. This book takes stock of the current status. The first part of the book gives an introduction to the most important concepts with the intention of enabling a potential user to set up and run basic simulations. The second part of the book describes how the basic functionality can be extended for example by adding schedule based public transit electric or autonomous cars paratransit or within day replanning. For each extension the text provides pointers to the additional documentation and to the code base. It is also discussed how people with appropriate Java programming skills can write their own extensions and plug them into the MATSim core. The project has started from the basic idea that traffic is a consequence of human behavior and thus humans and their behavior should be the starting point of all modelling and with the intuition that when simulations with 100 million particles are possible in computational physics then behavior oriented simulations with 10 million travelers should be possible in travel behavior research. The initial implementations thus combined concepts from computational physics and complex adaptive systems with concepts from travel behavior research. The third part of the book looks at theoretical concepts that are able to describe important aspects of the simulation system for example under certain conditions the code becomes a Monte Carlo engine sampling from a discrete choice model. Another important aspect is the interpretation of the MATSim score as utility in the microeconomic sense opening up a connection to benefit cost analysis. Finally the book collects use cases as they have been undertaken with MATSim. All current users of MATSim were invited to submit their work and many followed with sometimes crisp and short and sometimes longer contributions always with pointers to additional references. We hope that the book will become an invitation to explore to build and to extend agent based modeling of travel behavior from the stable and well tested core of MATSim documented here.

Proceedings of the International Conference on Web-Based Modeling and Simulation Philip A. Wilsey, 2000 International Operations Management Alberto F. De Toni, 2016-04-22 International Operations Management Lessons in Global Business uses a fascinating selection of case studies researched during the International Operations Management Project sponsored by the European Commission to produce a valuable view of businesses in Western and Eastern traditions. Ranging from China Post and Flextronics International Singapore to Electrolux Ford and GlaxoSmithKline the studies link conceptual and practical approaches in five areas: international operations management strategy sourcing and manufacturing new product development logistics and networked organisations. Throughout the authors compare the Western and Eastern approaches to business and introduce theory to clarify the comparison and the real consequences of internationalisation. With its balance of theoretical and applied content this volume created from an exciting collaboration between universities and schools of management in Europe and China serves as both a primary and supplementary source for higher level students and educators and as a worthwhile read for interested practitioners
