F. Long,2011-11-25 The technology of the next few decades could possibly allow us to explore with robotic probes the closest stars outside our Solar System and maybe even observe some of the recently discovered planets circling these stars This book looks at the reasons for exploring our stellar neighbors and at the technologies we are developing to build space probes that can traverse the enormous distances between the stars In order to reach the nearest stars we must first develop a propulsion technology that would take our robotic probes there in a reasonable time Such propulsion technology has radically different requirements from conventional chemical rockets because of the enormous distances that must be crossed Surprisingly many propulsion schemes for interstellar travel have been suggested and await only practical engineering solutions and the political will to make them a reality This is a result of the tremendous advances in astrophysics that have been made in recent decades and the perseverance and imagination of tenacious theoretical physicists This book explores these different propulsion schemes all based on current physics and the challenges they present to physicists engineers and space exploration entrepreneurs This book will be helpful to anyone who really wants to understand the principles behind and likely future course of interstellar travel and who wants to recognize the distinctions between pure fantasy such as Star Trek's warp drive and methods that are grounded in real physics and offer practical technological solutions for exploring the stars in the decades to come Privatizing Space Giuseppe De Chiara, Davide Sivoletta, 2025-10-01 This book is a fast paced account supported by striking compelling renderings of how spaceflight has been forever changed since NASA heralded the Commercial Orbital Transportation Services COTS program on January 18th 2006 Spaceflight was once a clunky affair ruled by inefficient cost plus models that gravely hampered the rapid pace of innovation while extorting a tremendous ransom to the taxpayers In a single volume you will embark on a thrilling journey of how major and lesser known launcher and spacecraft manufacturers have devoted their resources to bring forward a vision of profit by rapid innovation offering transportation services from LEO through cis lunar space and beyond Earth's sphere of influence This book recognizes NASA's COTS program as a pivot point in the history of the space agency and worldwide space industry and charts two story arcs before COTS BC and after COTS AC The reader will understand how much the space industry has benefitted from the introduction of COTS in the pursuit of making humankind a spacefaring civilization This book will feature numerous stunning original illustrations cross sections close up views and many more meticulously crafted by renowned space artist Giuseppe De Chiara As the saying goes a picture is worth a thousand words and these stunning images will capture the reader offering an exclusive intellectual experience
