Literature and Medicine in Nineteenth-Century

Britain Janis McLarren Caldwell, 2004-11-18 Although we have come to regard clinical and romantic as oppositional terms romantic literature and clinical medicine were fed by the same cultural configurations In the pre Darwinian nineteenth century writers and doctors developed an interpretive method that negotiated between literary and scientific knowledge of the natural world Literary writers produced potent myths that juxtaposed the natural and the supernatural often disturbing the conventional dualist hierarchy of spirit over flesh Clinicians developed the two part history and physical examination weighing the patient's narrative against the evidence of the body Examining fiction by Mary Shelley Carlyle the Brontës and George Eliot alongside biomedical lectures textbooks and articles Janis McLarren Caldwell demonstrates the similar ways of reading employed by nineteenth century doctors and imaginative writers and reveals the complexities and creative exchanges of the relationship between literature and medicine

Making a Difference Gayle Green, Coppélia Kahn, 2020-07-24 Feminist scholarship employs gender as a fundamental organizing category of human experience holding two related premises men and women have different perceptions or experiences in the same contexts the male perspective having been dominant in fields of knowledge and that gender is not a natural fact but a social construct a subject to study in any humanistic discipline This challenging collection of essays by prominent feminist literary critics offers a comprehensive introduction to modes of critical practice being used to trace the construction of gender in literature The collection provides an invaluable overview of current feminist critical thinking Its essays address a wide range of topics the relevance of gender scholarship in the social sciences to literary criticism the tradition of women's literature and its relation to the canon the politics of language French theories of the feminine psychoanalysis and feminism feminist criticism of writing by lesbians and black women the relationship between female subjectivity class and sexuality feminist readings of the canon Feminist Readings in Middle English Literature Dr Ruth Evans, Ruth Evans, Leslie Johnson, 2005-08-04 This volume designed with the student reader in mind is an indispensable blend of key essays in the field with specially commissioned new material by feminist scholars from the UK and the US It includes a diversity of texts and feminist approaches a substantial and very illuminating introduction by the editors and an annotated list of Further Reading offering preliminary guidance to the reader approaching the topic of gender and medieval literature for the first time Works and writers covered include Chaucer Margery Kempe Christine de Pisan The Katherine group of Saints Lives Langland's Piers Plowman Medieval cycle drama Students of both medieval and feminist literature will find this an essential work for study and reference

Engendering Realism and Postmodernism, 2021-11-01 This volume assembles critical essays on and excerpts from works of contemporary women writers in Britain Its focus is the interaction of aesthetic play and ethical commitment in the fictional work of women writers whose interest in testing and transgressing textual boundaries is rooted in a specific awareness of a gendered multicultural reality This position calls for a distinctly critical impetus of their writing involving the interaction of the political and the literary as expressed in innovative combinations of realist and postmodern techniques in works by A S Byatt Maureen Duffy Zoe Fairbairns Eva Figs Penelope Lively Sara Maitland Suniti Namjoshi Ravinder Randhawa Joan Riley Michele Roberts Emma Tennant Fay Weldon Jeanette Winterson All contributions to this volume address aspects of these writers positions and techniques with a clear focus on their interest in transgressing boundaries of genre gender and post colonial identity The special quality of these interpretations first given in the presence of writers at a symposium in Potsdam derives from the creative and prosperous interactions between authors and critics The volume concludes with excerpts from the works of the participating writers which exemplify the range of concrete concerns and technical accomplishments discussed in the essays They are taken from fictional works by Debjani Chatterjee Maureen Duffy Zoe Fairbairns Eva Figs Sara Maitland and Ravinder Randhawa They also include the creative interactions of Suniti Namjoshi and Gillian Hanscombe in their joint writing and Paul Magrs critical engagement with Sara Maitland

Handbook of British Literature and Culture of the First World War Ralf Schneider, Jane Potter, 2021-09-20 The First World War has given rise to a multifaceted cultural production like no other historical event This handbook surveys British literature and film about the war from 1914 until today The continuing interest in World War I highlights the interdependence of war experience the imaginative re creation of that experience in writing and individual as well as collective memory In the first part of the handbook the major genres of war writing and film are addressed including of course poetry and the novel but also the short story furthermore it is shown how our conception of the Great War is broadened when looked at from the perspective of gender studies and post colonial criticism The chapters in the second part present close readings of important contributions to the literary and filmic representation of World War I in Great Britain All in all the contributions demonstrate how the opposing forces of focusing and canon formation on the one hand and broadening and revision of the canon on the other have characterised British literature and culture of the First World War
