such this volume brings together scholars from various fields who discuss the relationship between mental health issues and English as a foreign language learning from a variety of theoretical empirical and practice oriented perspectives In Community With Readers Lynsey Burkins, Franki Sibberson, 2024-08-22 Whole class reading instruction has the power to harness the collective knowledge of the reading community that will foster independent readers and thinkers as they move through their literate lives What is the true purpose of whole group reading instruction Is it possible to teach standards and skills while also creating a community in which students are free to bring their whole selves into the work of reading And how do we make this vision an everyday reality in our grades 3-6 classrooms Elementary educators Lynsey Burkins and Franki Sibberson answer these questions and more in In Community With Readers: Transforming Reading Instruction with Read Alouds and Minilessons Burkins and Sibberson invite us into their classrooms as they redesign read alouds and minilessons to support readers in whole group reading instruction Inside this book you will find Ideas for co-creating a community aligned to standards and grounded in readers' identity, independence, and agency A day-by-day look into what read alouds and minilessons look like across a reading unit Practical and meaningful routines for helping students co-construct an understanding of the standards, the books they read, and one another's ideas Planning and note-taking templates designed to center both the standards we teach and the ideas our students bring to these standards An illustrated step-by-step guide to the first eight weeks of whole group reading instruction In this book Burkins and Sibberson push back on the idea that whole group reading instruction must be teacher-centered, skill and drill, and instead offer us a way to create a truly meaningful whole group reading community

Negotiating Spaces for Literacy Learning Mary Hamilton, Rachel Heydon, Kathryn Hibbert, Roz Stooke, 2015-05-21 Negotiating Spaces for Literacy Learning addresses two paradoxical currents that are sweeping through the contemporary educational field The first is the opening up of possibilities for multimodal communication as a result of developments in digital technologies and the sensitivity to multiliteracies The second is the increasing pressure from standardised testing, accountability, and performance measurement which pull curricular and pedagogical practices out of alignment with the everyday informal practices and interests of teachers and learners and narrow opportunities for diverse expressions of literacy Bringing together an international team of scholars to examine the tensions and struggles that result from the current educational climate, the book provides a much-needed discussion of the intersection of technologies, literacies, education, and self It does so through diverse approaches including philosophical, theoretical, and methodological treatments of multimodality and governmentality and a range of literacies: early years, primary, school, workplace, digital, middle school, secondary school, indigenous, adult, and place With examples taken from all stages of education and in several countries, the book allows readers to explore a range of multimodal practices and the ways in which governmentality plays out across them

New Methods of Literacy Research Peggy Albers, Teri Holbrook, Amy Flint, 2013-08-22 Literacy researchers at all stages of their careers are designing and developing innovative new methods for analyzing data in a range of spaces in and out of school Directly connected with evolving themes in literacy research theory instruction and practices especially in the areas of digital technologies gaming and web based research discourse analysis and arts based research this much needed text is the first to capture these new directions in one volume Written by internationally recognized authorities whose work is situated in these methods each chapter describes the origin of the method and its distinct characteristics offers a demonstration of how to analyze data using the method presents an exemplary study in which this method is used and discusses the potential of the method to advance and extend literacy research For literacy researchers asking how to match their work with current trends and for educators asking how to measure and document what is viewed as literacy within classrooms this is THE text to help them learn about and use the rich range of new and emerging literacy research methods

Courageous Leadership in Early Childhood Education Susi Long, Mariana Souto-Manning, Vivian Maria Vasquez, 2016-02-15 In this inspiring collection 13 early childhood leaders take action to challenge and change inequitable educational practices in preschools and elementary schools For them educating for social justice is not an empty platitude Steadfast and resolute they turn rhetoric into reality as they guide early childhood teachers to teach for social justice innovatively and strategically Through the voices of families teachers and the administrators themselves each chapter shares ways that these leaders use the power entrusted in them to question and disrupt discriminatory and marginalizing practices that deny opportunities for some students while privileging others The book includes insights strategies and resources that administrators can use to build confidence knowledge and skills as they invest in more equitable and just pre schools

Moving Critical Literacies Forward Jessica Pandya, JuliAnna Ávila, 2013-11-26 Taking the pulse of current efforts to do and in some cases undo critical literacy this volume explores and critiques its implementation in learning contexts around the globe An impressive set of international authors offer examples of productive critical literacy practices in and out of schools address the tensions and gaps between these practices and educational policies and attempt to forecast the future for critical literacy as a movement in the changing global educational policy landscape This collection is unique in presenting the recent work of luminaries such as Allan Luke and Hilary Janks alongside relative newcomers who use innovative approaches and arguments to reinvigorate and redefine critical practice It is time for this cutting edge inquiry into the state of critical literacy not only because is it a complex and ever evolving field but perhaps more important because it offers a reaction to and powerful reworking of standardization and high stakes accountability measures in educational contexts around the globe
