

NELSON STUD WELDING

SPECIFICATION: NBL Unthreaded Studs

Nelson NBL studs are designed to be welded to heavy base materials and are used for a variety of applications. In the power generation market, they are used to anchor refractory to water walls and to facilitate heat transfer in coal burning furnaces. In forging applications, NBL studs are used as the tong hold on the ends of billets. They are also commonly used as locator pins, axles, pivot points, spacers, and stops.

Studs with diameters up to 1/2", and lengths up to 1-1/4" can be specially designed for use in automatic fed stud welding equipment.

Special secondary operations, such as cross-drilling, grooving, heat treating, and pointing, can expand the application possibilities of Nelson NBL studs.

For similar function studs, see Nelson NBA Aluminum Unthreaded studs and NJL Reduced Base Unthreaded studs.

Robotic Welding, Intelligence and Automation Tzyh-Jong Tarn,Shan-Ben Chen,Changjiu Zhou,2007-09-11 Robotic welding systems have been used in different types of manufacturing They can provide several benefits in welding applications The most prominent advantages of robotic welding are precision and productivity Another benefit is that labor costs can be reduced Robotic welding also reduces risk by moving the human welder operator away from hazardous fumes and molten metal close to the welding arc The robotic welding system usually involves measuring and identifying the component to be welded we ing it in position controlling the welding parameters and documenting the produced welds However traditional robotic welding systems rely heavily upon human interv tion It does not seem that the traditional robotic welding techniques by themselves can cope well with uncertainties in the welding surroundings and conditions e g variation of weld pool dynamics fluxion solid weld torch and etc On the other hand the advent of intelligent techniques provides us with a powerful tool for solving demanding re world problems with uncertain and unpredictable environments Therefore it is intere ing to gather current trends and to provide a high quality forum for engineers and researchers working in the filed of intelligent techniques for robotic welding systems This volume brings together a broad range of invited and contributed papers that describe recent progress in this field Catalog of Copyright Entries.
