International Guide to Student Achievement John Hattie, Eric M. Anderman, 2012 The International Guide to Student Achievement brings together and critically examines the major influences shaping student achievement today There are many often competing claims about how to enhance student achievement raising the questions of What works and What works best World renowned bestselling authors John Hattie and Eric M Anderman have invited an international group of scholars to write brief empirically supported articles that examine predictors of academic achievement across a variety of topics and domains Rather than telling people what to do in their schools and classrooms this guide simply provides the first ever compendium of research that summarizes what is known about the major influences shaping students academic achievement around the world Readers can apply this knowledge base to their own school and classroom settings The 150 entries serve as intellectual building blocks to creatively mix into new or existing educational arrangements and aim for quick easy reference Chapter authors follow a common format that allows readers to more seamlessly compare and contrast information across entries guiding readers to apply this knowledge to their own classrooms their curriculums and teaching strategies and their teacher training programs Guide to Indian Periodical Literature ,1990 Locating the Field Simon Coleman, Peter Collins, 2020-09-09 Are reports of the death of conventional fieldwork in anthropology greatly exaggerated This book takes a critical look at the latest developments and key issues in fieldwork The nature of locality itself is problematic for both research subjects and fieldworkers on the grounds that it must now be maintained and represented in relation to widening and fragmenting social frames and networks Such developments have raised questions concerning the nature of ethnographic presence and scales of comparison From the social space of a cybercafe to cities in India the UK and South Africa among others this book features a wide range of ethnographic studies that provide new ways of looking at the concepts of locality and site It shows that rather than taking key fieldwork processes such as globalization and mobility for granted anthropologists are well placed to examine and critique the totalizing assumptions behind these notions

Bibliographic Guide to Business and Economics New York Public Library. Research Libraries,1991 Education about Asia ,2001 Resistance and the State David Gellner,2007-04 There has been growing concern about failed states and since the massacre of the Royal family in Nepal in 2001 increasing media attention has focused on the decline of the state and the rise of the Maoist rebels This book explores the complex relationship between a modernizing developmentalist state and the people it professes to represent Resources in Education ,1997-10 A Guide to Gender and Classifiers Alexandra Y. Aikhenvald,2025-02-12 This book explores the range of noun categorization devices found in the languages of the world from the extensive systems of numeral classifiers in Southeast Asia to the highly grammaticalized gender agreement classes in Indo European languages Almost all languages use some type of noun categorization device in their grammar with the most widespread being linguistic gender whereby nouns are classified based on core semantic properties such as sex animacy humanness or shape and size Numeral classifiers are also common and classify a noun in terms of its inherent nature animacy shape and form accompanied by a numeral or a quantifier Other types of noun categorization devices include noun classifiers possessive classifiers verbal classifiers and a number of rarer types such as locative and deictic classifiers In this volume Alexandra Aikhenvald investigates all facets of these nominal categorization systems from their form and distribution to their origins development and loss Noun categorization devices provide unique insights into how people categorize the world through the language in one language a human might be classified in terms of orientation hence as vertical in another as male or female and in another as simply animate or even rational They also change as society changes reflecting the ways in which language and social environment are integrated into a single whole Travel Writing from Black Australia Robert Clarke,2015-11-19 Over the past thirty years the Australian travel experience has been Aboriginalized Aboriginality has been appropriated to furnish the Australian nation with a unique and identifiable tourist brand This is deeply ironic given the realities of life for many Aboriginal people in Australian society On the one hand Aboriginality in the form of artworks literature performances landscapes sport and famous individuals is celebrated for the way it blends exoticism mysticism multiculturalism nationalism and reconciliation On the other hand in the media cinema and travel writing Aboriginality in the form of the lived experiences of Aboriginal people has been exploited in the service of moral panic patronized in the name of white benevolence or simply ignored For many travel writers this irony the clash between different regimes of valuing Aboriginality is one of the great challenges to travelling in Australia Travel Writing from Black Australia examines the ambivalence of contemporary travelers engagements with Aboriginality Concentrating on a period marked by the rise of discourses on Aboriginality championing indigenous empowerment self determination and reconciliation the author analyses how travel to Black Australia has become for many travelers a means of discovering new and potentially transformative styles of interracial engagement
