Graham J. Murphy, 2024-06-30 William Gibson's Neuromancer A Critical Companion presents Gibson's rise as an influential figure within and beyond the science fiction field Gibson's success with Neuromancer the first novel to win the Hugo Award Nebula Award and Philip K Dick Award is in part a direct result of the rising popularity of cyberpunk in the early to mid 1980s although it could just as easily be said cyberpunk's success was in no small part a direct result of Neuromancer's explosion onto the science fiction scene Neuromancer's ongoing relevance remains undiminished because we are effectively living in a technocultural age that is increasingly difficult to distinguish from Gibson's novel As Graham J Murphy demonstrates in this companion the novel remains instrumental in thinking through the ongoing explorations of the posthuman transhumanism the Utopia Anti Utopia dynamic and capitalist realism to name a few of the more significant critical vehicles with which to better understand and contextualize our technocultural age and Neuromancer's role in both shaping it and responding to it This book provides a critical introduction to Neuromancer and cyberpunk culture Graphic Novels

(Re-)Imagining New Media Christoph Ernst, Jens Schröter, 2021-05-31 The late 20th century was a formative phase in the history of digital media culture The introduction of new media was associated with promises for the future that still resonate today This book brings together contributions that discuss key aspects of the imaginaries surrounding new media in this epoch The focus is on the works of the media artist group Van Gogh TV especially the historically very important interactive television project Piazza virtuale 1992 The Uncanny Bruce Grenville, 2001 Documenting the image of the cyborg in all its imaginative guises THE UNCANNY includes essays and excerpts by Allan Antliff Bruno Bettelheim Randy Lee Cutler Freud William Gibson Bruce Grenville Makiko Hara Donna Haraway Masanori Oda Jeanne Randolph and Toshiya Ueno One of the most persistent and intriguing cultural images of the last century the cyborg exists at the intersection of science technology and culture and is understood here as an uncanny image that reflects our shared fascination and dread of the machine and its presence in our daily lives The Routledge Companion to Cyberpunk Culture Anna McFarlane, Lars Schmeink, Graham Murphy, 2019-11-28 In this companion an international range of contributors examine the cultural formation of cyberpunk from micro level analyses of example texts to macro level debates of movements providing readers with snapshots of cyberpunk culture and also cyberpunk as culture With technology seamlessly integrated into our lives and our selves and social systems veering towards globalization and corporatization cyberpunk has become a ubiquitous cultural formation that dominates our twenty first century techno digital landscapes The Routledge Companion to Cyberpunk Culture traces cyberpunk through its historical developments as a literary science fiction form to its spread into other media such as comics film television and video games Moreover seeing cyberpunk as a general cultural practice the Companion provides insights into photography music fashion and activism Cyberpunk as the chapters presented here argue is integrated with other critical theoretical tenets of our times such as posthumanism the Anthropocene animality and empire And lastly cyberpunk is a vehicle that lends itself to the rise of new futurisms occupying a variety of positions in our regionally diverse reality and thus linking as much as differentiating our perspectives on a globalized technoscientific world With original entries that engage cyberpunk's diverse angles and its proliferation in our life worlds this critical reference will be of significant interest to humanities students and scholars of media cultural studies literature and beyond Terminal Identity Scott Bukatman, 1993 Scott Bukatman's Terminal Identity referring to both the site of the termination of the conventional subject and the birth of a new subjectivity constructed at the computer terminal or television screen puts to rest any lingering doubts of the significance of science fiction in contemporary cultural studies Demonstrating a comprehensive knowledge both of the history of science fiction narrative from its earliest origins and of cultural theory and philosophy Bukatman redefines the nature of human identity in the Information Age Drawing on a wide range of contemporary theories of the postmodern including Fredric Jameson Donna Haraway and Jean Baudrillard Bukatman begins with the proposition that Western culture is suffering a crisis brought on by advanced electronic technologies Then in a series of chapters richly supported by analyses of literary texts visual arts film video television comics computer games and graphics Bukatman takes the reader on an odyssey that traces the postmodern subject from its current crisis through its close encounters with technology and finally to new self recognition This new virtual subject as Bukatman defines it situates the human and the technological as coexistent codependent and mutually defining. Synthesizing the most provocative theories of postmodern culture with a truly encyclopedic treatment of the relevant media, this volume sets a new standard in the study of science fiction, a category that itself may be redefined in light of this work. Bukatman not only offers the most detailed map to date of the intellectual terrain of postmodern technology studies, he arrives at new frontiers, providing a propitious launching point for further inquiries into the relationship of electronic technology and culture.
