Indonesia's COVID-19 Infodemic: A Battle for Truth or Trust? Yatun Sastramidjaja, 2023-09-22 Besides being one of the countries most severely affected by the COVID 19 pandemic Indonesia also experienced a severe infodemic an overabundance of contradictory information including misinformation and disinformation on COVID 19 This infodemic hampered pandemic mitigation efforts resulting in non compliance with public health measures and delays to the national vaccination programme in the first six months of the pandemic due to widespread vaccine hesitancy or vaccine refusal Furthermore it fomented public distrust of the government and other institutions On Indonesian social media this infodemic engendered a peculiar type of hybrid narrative combining global conspiracy theories with local moral economies and religious sentiments Religious micro influencers were particularly influential in spreading the narrative that the government s COVID 19 policies could not be trusted and that COVID 19 vaccines were dangerous and haram Such posts were often removed in line with the social media platforms policies to combat false information on COVID 19 and the individuals who created such content risked prosecution in line with the government s punitive approach to hoaxes However this did not lessen the prevalence of anti vaccine narratives nor did it mitigate public distrust of the government The government also contributed to the spiral of distrust through its inconsistent policies lack of transparency and mixed messages Especially in the pandemic s early phases government officials themselves were found spreading misleading information first to downplay the severity and risk of COVID 19 in order to avoid social unrest and subsequently to push for a quick reopening of the economy In prioritizing the economy over public health considerable resources were spent on influence campaigns to persuade the public to continue business as normal The influence campaigns appeared to succeed in persuading people to return to work and to get vaccinated eventually However public distrust remained and was easily reactivated on social media in response to inconsistencies and double standards in the government s enforcement of COVID 19 restrictions
