Alex Fenton, Gordon Fletcher, Marie Griffiths, 2019-11-25 Emerging technologies are having a profound impact upon business as individuals and organisations increasingly embrace the benefits of the always on attitude that digital technologies produce. The use of the web, apps, cloud storage, GPS and Internet connected devices has transformed the way we live, learn, play and interact, yet how a business can fully benefit from this transformation is not always clear. In response, this book enables students and business leaders to take a strategic and sustainable approach to realising the value of digital technologies. It offers results driven solutions that successfully transform organisations into data driven, people focused businesses capable of sustainably competing at a global level. Split across four key parts, the material moves through understanding digital business to planning, implementing and assessing digital transformation. The current challenges facing all small organisations, including limited resources, financial pressures and the lack of dedicated IT departments are explored. The authors consider the ways in which innovation can increase competitive advantage, how innovative business models can create new opportunities and how a data driven perspective can release embedded value within the organisation. Contemporary international case studies and examples throughout each chapter bridge theory with practical application and systematically document the patterns of activities that enable success. This textbook is a vital resource for postgraduate and undergraduate students of digital business innovation and transformation. By showing how to initiate digital transformation across an organisation, it will prepare business owners, directors and management of small and medium sized businesses to take strategic advantage of new and emerging technologies to stay ahead of their competition.

A European Television Fiction Renaissance Luca Barra, Massimo Scaglioni, 2020-11-29 This book maps the landscape of contemporary European premium television fiction, offering a detailed overview of both the changes in the digital production and distribution and the emergence of specific national and transnational case histories. Combining a media production approach with a textual and audience analysis, the volume offers a complex, stratified systemic view of ongoing aesthetic, sociocultural and industrial developments in contemporary European TV. With contributions from leading experts in the field, the book first offers an overview of the industrial policy and cultural context for the renaissance of European television drama over the past decade, based on original comparative research. This research is then supported by case study chapters from the key contexts within which quality European television is being produced, offering a complex and complete picture of the industry's strengths and limitations, its traditions and trends, its constraints and future perspectives. A European Television Fiction Renaissance is a must read book for TV scholars working across Europe and beyond in the areas of media studies, international communications and television studies, media industries studies, production studies, European studies and media policy studies, as well as for those with an interest in television drama, Netflix, globalisation, pay TV and on demand.
