Buried Treasure Caleb Wall, 2017-09-08 With business under unprecedented pressure from a range of stakeholders to engage in corporate social responsibility CSR those working in dirty industries developing countries and the extractive sector are finding themselves exposed to great strategic risks Many of these companies are endeavouring to practise CSR and sustainability but lack the knowledge to do so convincingly Much of what has been published to date tells companies they must do CSR without explaining how best to implement CSR related policies and why this is very much in the corporate interest Buried Treasure sets out in a series of case studies from different industries around the world a clear demonstration of how it is possible to create shared value for companies communities and other stakeholders by putting CSR at the core of the business model In implementing CSR companies need to look beyond philanthropy delving deeper to find the buried treasure of shared value creation This is much more than finding the simple win win solutions It is about companies engaging seriously in the challenges they face in their operations and finding competitive advantage from working with stakeholders to solve these common problems This is not easy but where companies have done it well they have found new corporate opportunities and enhanced brand value Buried Treasure presents a series of steps each accompanied by an in depth case study to demonstrate how different companies have managed to uncover the value of CSR They include Anglo American's Zimele programme of enterprise development in its coal and platinum mining areas in South Africa Montana Exploradora showing how community co monitoring of the environment has helped build trust for a gold mine in Guatemala Gildan a leading sportswear manufacturer demonstrating how garment manufacture in Honduras created meaningful local opportunities Scandic Hotels which has used environmental stewardship and omtanke to create comparative advantage in a competitive industry and Turner Broadcasting using corporate core competences in partnership with an NGO to leverage staff skills enhancing public perception and staff retention This short and accessible book will be an invaluable aid to managers and students searching for clear proof of the advantages of corporate social responsibility for business and its many stakeholders and for guidance in how to action best practice policies

Parenting Needs Energy Isabella Brooks, AI, 2025-02-27 Parenting Needs Energy highlights the crucial link between a parent's diet and their energy levels arguing that sustained energy is fundamental for effective parenting. It explores how incorporating whole grains can combat parental burnout by providing a steady release of energy unlike the energy spikes and crashes associated with refined carbohydrates and processed foods. Family health studies reveal the significant impact of dietary choices on mood, cognitive function and overall well-being. The book takes a practical approach beginning with the science of energy production and then detailing the specific benefits of whole grains. It stresses the importance of understanding how different foods affect energy levels enabling parents to make informed choices for themselves and their families. By understanding the role of nutrition parents can take actionable steps towards improving their daily performance and family health. Parenting Needs Energy progresses through three key sections examining family health studies and dietary patterns, analyzing the physiological effects of whole grains versus processed foods and providing a practical guide to incorporating whole grains into family meals. This structure empowers parents with the knowledge and tools to make positive sustainable dietary changes emphasizing long term benefits for both parents and children.
