Delivering quality education to students while remaining competitive at an international level is only one of the many challenges universities face today To attain their goals universities must adopt new strategies to achieve academic excellence World University Rankings and the Future of Higher Education is a pivotal reference source for the latest scholarly research on the implementation of a ranking system for higher education institutions providing a thorough overview of the impacts of these rankings on educational quality Exploring the benefits and challenges of this system in a global context this book is ideally designed for academicians researchers students administrators and policy makers interested in the effects of university rankings in the education sector and beyond University Rankings Jung Cheol Shin, Robert K. Toutkoushian, Ulrich Teichler, 2011-06-06 This ground breaking and exhaustive analysis of university ranking surveys scrutinizes their theoretical bases methodological issues societal impact and policy implications providing readers with a deep understanding of these controversial comparators The authors propose that university rankings are misused by policymakers and institutional leaders alike They assert that these interested parties overlook the highly problematic internal logic of ranking methodologies even as they obsess over the surveys assessment of their status The result is that institutions suffer from short termism realigning their resources to maximize their relative rankings While rankings are widely used in policy and academic discussions this is the first book to explore the theoretical and methodological issues of ranking itself It is a welcome contribution to an often highly charged debate Far from showing how to manipulate the system this collection of work by key researchers aims to enlighten interested parties University Rankings William Yat Wai Lo, 2014-02-17 This book adopts a qualitative case study approach to provide the readers with a systematic delineation and interpretation of the implications of the university ranking phenomenon for Taiwan s higher education system It reviews the literature on different theories concerning the global transformation of higher education and presents basic information on higher education in Taiwan The author develops a four dimensional framework for the analysis of the ranking phenomenon in the island state First the technological ecological dimension aims to look into how the rankings have impacted Taiwan s higher education based on empirical findings from five Taiwanese public universities Next the technological geographical dimension examines how Taiwan can use rankings to promote its interests in global higher education The two conceptual dimensions focus on the relationship between the rankings and power in higher education They show how the phenomenon can be read and explained through theoretical lenses from ecological and geographical perspectives From an ecological perspective the empirical evidence suggests that the influence of rankings varies throughout the academic hierarchy in Taiwan The theoretical analysis then illustrates the relationship between the ranking phenomenon and the power structure in academic hierarchy Geographically while the empirical analysis is based on data from Taiwan the theoretical analysis offers essential insights

Higher Education in the United States James J. F. Forest, Kevin Kinser, 2002-06-21 Surveys the changing landscape of American higher education from academic freedom to virtual universities from campus crime to Pell Grants from the Student Privacy Act to student diversity In the years following World War II college and university enrollment doubled students revolted faculty unionized and community colleges evolved Tuition and technology soared as did the number of first generation minority and women students These changes radically transformed the American system of postsecondary education Today that system is in trouble Its aging professoriate prepares for retirement but low academic salaries can no longer attract the best minds to replace them A flood of corporate dollars funds commercial research but money for basic research the seedbed of American scientific preeminence has dried up Colleges and universities also face heated competition with for profit education providers for students faculty and external financial support along with the costs of providing remedial education to growing numbers of students who are unprepared for postsecondary education

World University Rankings: Statistical Issues And Possible Remedies Kay Cheng Soh, 2017-03-08 World university ranking started one and a half decades ago for the purpose of understanding what makes an excellent institution of higher education Subsequent to the appearance of the Academic Ranking of World Universities at the Shanghai Jiaotong University there soon emerged the QS World University Rankings and the Times Higher Education World University Rankings These three ranking systems are considered the classics as they are the fore runners although no less than ten new systems have come to the arena The various ranking systems adopt a common approach of weight and sum to process the indicator data Each system somewhat arbitrarily decides on a set of indicators and assigns different weights to these presumably reflecting their relative importance This simple and simplistic approach meets well common sense And in fact much of the discussion on world university rankings is conducted at the commonsensical level However analyses conducted in the recent years uncovered several problems of the prevalent approach spurious precision mutual compensation weight discrepancy indicator redundancy etc which render the overall scores and ranking suspect in terms of validity These are due to systems ignoring the fact that world university rankings are a form of social measurement and therefore need be seen from this perspective Moreover rankings encourage competition and in the highly competitive world of today it is natural that institutional attention is focused on the ranking results By now the original purpose of world university ranking seems to have been overshadowed and world university rankings look more like international academic contests as though they are annual sports meets This monograph collects together many articles pertaining to the identified measurement and statistical issues of world university rankings and suggests remedies to make ranking results more trustworthy Weapons of Math Destruction Cathy O'Neil, 2016-09-06 A manual for the 21st century citizen accessible refreshingly critical relevant and urgent Financial Times Fascinating and deeply disturbing Yuval Noah Harari Guardian Books of the Year In this New York Times bestseller Cathy O'Neil one of the first champions of algorithmic accountability sounds an alarm on the mathematical models that pervade modern life and threaten to rip apart our social fabric We live in the age of the algorithm Increasingly the decisions that affect our lives where we go to school whether we get a loan how much we pay for insurance are being made not by humans but by mathematical models In theory this should lead to greater fairness everyone is judged according to the same rules and bias is eliminated And yet as Cathy O'Neil reveals in this urgent and necessary book the opposite is true The models being used today are opaque unregulated and incontestable even when they're wrong Most troubling they reinforce discrimination Tracing the arc of a person's life O'Neil exposes the black box models that shape our future both as individuals and as a society These weapons of math destruction score teachers and students sort CVs grant or deny loans evaluate workers target voters and monitor our health O'Neil calls on modellers to take more responsibility for their algorithms and on policy makers to regulate their use But in the end it's up to us to become more savvy about the models that govern our lives This important book empowers us to ask the tough questions uncover the truth and demand change Higher Education: Handbook of Theory and Research Michael B.
