The Speed Game Paul Westhead,2020-11 Paul Westhead

was teaching high school in his native Philadelphia when he was named La Salle University's men's basketball coach in 1970. By 1980 he was a Los Angeles Lakers assistant soon to be hired as head coach winning an NBA title with Hall of Fame center Kareem Abdul Jabbar and rookie guard Magic Johnson. After compiling a 112-50 record he was fired in November 1981. After a short stay as coach of the Chicago Bulls Westhead reemerged in the mideighties as a coach at Loyola Marymount in California where he designed his highly unusual signature run and gun offense that came to be known as The system. The Speed Game offers a vibrant account of how Westhead helped develop a style of basketball that not only won at the highest levels but went on to influence basketball as it's played today. Known for implementing an up tempo quick possession high octane offense Westhead is the only coach to have won championships in both the NBA and WNBA. But his long career can be defined by one simple question he's heard from journalists fellow coaches his wife and well himself Why? Why did he insist on playing such a controversial style of basketball that could vary from brilliant to busted? Westhead speaks candidly here about the feathers he ruffled and about his own shortcomings as he takes readers from Philadelphia's West Catholic High where he couldn't make varsity to the birth of the Showtime Lakers and to the powerhouse he built nearly ten years later at Loyola where his team set records likely never to be approached. Westhead says he always found himself telling prospective bosses My speed game is gonna knock your socks off. So will his story and what it could do to bring back a popular style of play.

Prehistoric Alex Wong, 2023-10-24 The improbable story of the birth of modern day pro basketball in Toronto In just over 25 years the Toronto Raptors have evolved from an intrepid expansion team to an NBA champion But for all the triumphs of the past decade the beginning looked a bit different When the franchise began its first season in 1995 a pro basketball team in Toronto was viewed as an experiment There was no playbook to follow and very few people gave them a chance to succeed In Prehistoric irreverent Raptors voice and culture writer Alex Wong explores the franchise's fascinating and unconventional inception through 140 original interviews with those involved with the team's very beginning examining the process of how the team came up with their name and logo inspired by the blockbuster film Jurassic Park taking a behind the scenes look at the drafting of star point guard Damon Stoudamire telling the backstories of a group of misfits who formed the first year roster and providing an in depth look at the team's opening night victory at the SkyDome and the expansion franchise's signature win over Michael Jordan and a 72 win Chicago Bulls team The Raptors boldly and intentionally pursued a much different audience in a hockey first town The result is a team who went through the necessary growing pains and eventually captured the heart of a city as told in this essential origin story through the lens of the people who were there to help lay the foundation for a thriving modern day basketball franchise in Toronto
