Complexity in Second Language Study Emotions Richard J. Sampson, 2022-06-14 This book offers a socially situated view of the emergence of emotionality for additional language L2 learners in classroom interaction in Japan Grounded in a complexity perspective the author argues that emotions need to be studied as they are dynamically experienced and understood in all of their multidimensional colors by individuals in interaction. Via practitioner research Sampson applies a small lens focus interweaving experiential and discursive data offering possibilities for exploring interpreting and representing the lived experience of L2 study emotions in a more holistic yet detailed social yet individual fashion. Amidst the currently expanding interest in L2 study emotions the book presents a strong case for the benefits of locating interpretations of the emergence of L2 study emotions back into situated dynamic social context. Sampson's work will be of interest to students and researchers in second language acquisition and L2 learning psychology.

Challenges of Second and Foreign Language Education in a Globalized World Mirosław Pawlak, Anna Mystkowska-Wiertelak, 2017-09-07 This edited collection brings together papers by eminent scholars who attempt to demonstrate how challenges can most successfully be ameliorated with an eye to enhancing the effectiveness of the processes of language teaching and learning. In Part One emphasis is placed on challenges that second language education has to face both those more general dealing with language policy issues and those more specific concerned with instructional options in the language classroom. Part Two focuses on challenges involved in researching the processes of teaching and learning in the second and foreign languages classroom both with respect to research methodology and efforts to tap some variables impinging upon the effects of instruction. Finally Part Three is devoted to challenges involved in second and foreign language teacher education the quality of which to a large extent determines the outcomes of second language education in any educational context.

The Routledge Handbook of Second Language Acquisition and Individual Differences Shaofeng Li, Phil Hiver, Mostafa Papi, 2022-05-30 The Routledge Handbook of Second Language Acquisition and Individual Differences provides a thorough in depth discussion of the theory research and pedagogy pertaining to the role individual difference ID factors play in second language acquisition SLA. It goes beyond the traditional repertoire and includes 32 chapters covering a full spectrum of topics on learners cognitive conative affective and demographic sociocultural variation. The volume examines IDs from two perspectives one is how each ID variable is associated with learning behaviors processes and outcomes the other is how each domain of SLA such as vocabulary or reading is affected by clusters of ID variables. The volume also includes a section on the common methods used in ID research including data elicitation instruments such as surveys interviews and psychometric testing as well as methods of data analysis such as structural equation modeling. The book is a must read for any second language researcher or applied linguist interested in investigating the effects of IDs on language learning and for any educator interested in taking account of learners individual differences to maximize the effects of second language instruction.

Teaching and Researching Motivation Zoltán Dörnyei, Ema Ushioda, 2021-04-21 Cultivating motivation is crucial to a language learner's success and therefore crucial for the language teacher and researcher to understand. The third edition of Teaching and Researching Motivation reflects the dramatic changes in the field of motivation research. With an increased emphasis on dynamic perspectives on motivation and its relations with other individual social and contextual factors this book offers ways in which advances in the field can be put to practical use in the classroom and in research Key new features and material exploration of the motivation to learn languages other than English LOTE principles for designing L2 motivational studies discussion of emerging areas of research including unconscious motivation and language learning mindsets Providing a clear and comprehensive theory driven account of motivation Teaching and Researching Motivation examines how theoretical insights can be used in everyday teaching practice The final section provides a range of useful resources including relevant websites key reference works and an online repository of tools and instruments for researching language learning motivation Fully revised by pre eminent researchers in this field Zoltán Dörnyei and Ema Ushioda this is an invaluable resource for teachers and researchers alike Second Language Acquisition and Lifelong Learning Simone E. Pfenninger, Julia Festman, David Singleton, 2023-05-05 Language fundamentally defines and distinguishes us as humans as members of society and as individuals As we go through life our relationship with language and with learning shifts and changes but it remains significant This book is an up to date resource for graduate students and researchers in second language L2 acquisition who are interested in language learning across the lifespan The main goal is to survey and evaluate what is known about the linguistic cognition affect associations that occur in L2 learning from birth through senescence passing through the stages of childhood adolescence adulthood and third age the extent to which L2 acquisition may be seen as contributing to healthy and active aging the impact of the development of personalized technology enhanced communicative L2 environments and how these phenomena are to be approached scientifically and methodologically The effects of certain specific variables such as gender socio economic background and bilingualism are also analyzed as we argue that chronological age does not determine the positioning of L2 learners across the lifespan age is part of a complex web of social distinctions such as psychological and individual factors that intersect in the construction of a learner's relative status and opportunities Motivation and Second Language Acquisition Zoltán Dörnyei, Richard Schmidt, Richard W. Schmidt, 2001 This volume the second in this series concerned with motivation and foreign language learning includes papers presented at a colloquium on second language motivation at the American Association for Applied Linguistics as well as a number of specially commissioned surveys Portraits of Second Language Learners Chie Muramatsu, 2018-05-25 Using second language L2 socialization theory as a theoretical framework this book investigates the ways in which four advanced learners of Japanese on an immersion program in the USA exercise their agency to pursue their language learning goals The work presents their learner portraits and documents the different ways in which the four learners negotiate the meaning of their participations in the new community of practice navigate and shape the trajectories of their learning and eventually achieve their goals of learning from their emic perspectives The book re examines Norton's 2000 constructs of investment investigates its applicability and argues that L2 learners' desires and drives for learning an L2 are more diverse unique and contextually situated than Norton's notion of investment alone can explain The research will be of interest to researchers and students in the fields of applied linguistics second language acquisition foreign language education and language and literacy education

Complexity in Classroom Foreign Language Learning Motivation Richard J. Sampson, 2016-06-02 This book explores how complex systems theory can contribute to the understanding of classroom language learner motivation through an extended examination of one particular situated research project Working from the lived experience of the participants the study describes how action research methods were used to explore the dynamic conditions operating in a foreign language classroom in Japan The book draws attention to the highly personalised and individual yet equally co formed nature of classroom foreign language learning motivation and to the importance of agency and emotions in language learning It presents an extended illustration of the applicability of complex systems theory for research design and process in SLA and its narrative approach shines light upon the evolving nature of research and role of the researcher The study will be a valuable resource for practitioners researchers and postgraduate students interested in classroom language teaching and learning especially those with a focus on motivation among learners

Willingness to Communicate in Instructed Second Language Acquisition Anna Mystkowska-Wiertelak, Mirosław Pawlak, 2017-02-17 This book offers a comprehensive account of individual differences variables as well as contextual factors that impinge on second language learners willingness to communicate WTC Firstly it adopts a macro perspective on WTC which entails an attempt to identify variables that are related to WTC taking into account the specificity of the Polish higher education setting Secondly it embraces a micro perspective on WTC striving to pinpoint the individual and contextual influences on levels of WTC in the course of regularly scheduled naturally occurring English classes as well as to capture the dynamic nature of WTC during such classes Together these perspectives bring the reader closer to understanding the mechanisms underlying WTC in specific contexts thereby providing a basis for recommendations for classroom practice that could translate into learners success It will be of interest to second language acquisition researchers and students as well as to methodologists and materials writers who can use the research findings to improve the practice of teaching and learning speaking in the language classroom

L2 Selves and Motivations in Asian Contexts Matthew T. Apple, Dexter Da Silva, Terry Fellner, 2016-11-23 This book fills an existing gap in language learning motivation research by examining the applications of current motivational theories and models from WEIRD Western educated industrialized rich developed contexts to educational systems in Asian contexts All chapters are focused on second language L2 motivation as it applies to the EFL situation in Asian countries where English is a mandatory subject in school Themes in the volume cover the use of possible L2 selves as a theoretical model of motivation the role of teacher motivation and demotivation in non European educational systems study abroad motivation among adolescents cross cultural differences in learner motivation among Asian cultures and the influence of native speakerism on language motivation and cultural identity This book will appeal to ESL EFL educators postgraduate students researchers and teacher trainers both inside and outside Asian countries who are interested in research on L2 motivation in general and within Asian contexts in particular Methods and Applications in Language Sciences: Recent Trends in Linguistics Marcel Pikhart, Valentina Cuccio, Natascha Müller, Ferran Suner, 2023-10-23 This Research Topic is part of the Methods and Applications in Language Sciences series It aims at bringing novel methodologies and applications in a wider perspective of linguistics i e in the context of various current approaches of psychology communication technology artificial intelligence big data cognitive science sociology etc Motivation to Learn Multiple Languages in Japan Chika Takahashi, 2022-11-22 This book provides rare insights into motivation among extremely successful learners of English and languages other than English LOTEs through the analysis of a longitudinal study and the examination of the factors involved in becoming multilingual in a non multilingual environment Based on sixteen interview sessions conducted over the course of nine years while the learners progressed from high school to the world of work this book offers the story of how two learners persist in English LOTE learning The study illuminates the long term processes through which the interviewees develop ideal English LOTE selves in an environment where multilingualism is not emphasized and where both English and LOTEs can still be described as foreign languages Educators and researchers will learn from this study which stretches our understanding of motivation beyond the recent theorizing of L2 motivation and contributes to the limited research in long term motivational trajectories and LOTE learning motivation which is particularly scarce in non European contexts The book will be of interest not only to readers in Japan but also to those in other contexts as it offers an example of successful learners who go beyond the pragmatic and instrumentalist view of language learning to hold a more holistic view thus revealing the factors which can sustain multiple language learning even in foreign language contexts The Routledge Handbook of the Psychology of Language Learning and Teaching Tammy Gregersen, Sarah Mercer, 2021-11-10 This state of the art volume is the first to capture a hybrid discipline that studies the role and linguistic implications of the human mind in language learning and teaching This Handbook considers individual as well as collective factors in language learners and teachers from an array of new empirical constructs and theoretical perspectives including implications for practice and myths debates and disagreements in the field and points to future directions for research This collection of stellar contributions is an essential resource for researchers advanced students and teachers working in applied linguistics second language acquisition psychology and education International Research on Multilingualism: Breaking with the Monolingual Perspective Eva Vetter, Ulrike Jessner, 2019-10-22 This volume contributes to a better understanding of both psycho and sociolinguistic levels of multilingualism and their interplay in development and use The chapters stem from an international group of specialists in multilingualism with chapters from Austria Canada Germany Hungary Israel Italy Slovakia South Africa Spain and the United States The chapters provide an update on research on third language acquisition and multilingualism and pay particular attention to new research concepts and the exploration of contact phenomena such as transfer and language learning strategies in diverse language contact scenarios Concepts covered include dominant language constellations mother tongue germination factors and communicative competence in national contexts Multilingual use as described and applied in the volume aims at demonstrating and identifying current and future challenges for research on third language acquisition and multilingualism The third languages in focus include widely and less widely used official minority and migrant languages in instructed and or natural contexts including Albanian Arabic Basque English French German Hungarian Italian Romanian Spanish Punjabi Russian Turkish and Vietnamese thereby mapping a high variety of language constellations
