Application of Nanotechnology in Food Science and Food Microbiology Jayanta Kumar Patra, Han-Seung Shin, Spiros Paramithiotis, 2018-06-25 Nanotechnology is a fast evolving discipline that already produces outstanding basic knowledge and industrial applications for the benefit of society. It is a new emerging and fascinating field of science that permits advanced research in many areas. The first applications of nanotechnology mainly concerned material sciences applications in the agriculture and food sectors are still emerging. Food science nanotechnology is an area of rising attention that unties new possibilities for the food industry. Due to the rapid population growth, there is a need to produce food and beverages in a more efficient, safe, and sustainable way. The application of nanotechnology in food has also gained great importance in recent years in view of its potential application to improve production of food crops, enhance nutrition, packaging, and food safety overall. The new materials, products, and applications are anticipated to bring lots of improvements to the food and related sectors, impacting agriculture and food production, food processing, distribution, storage, sanitation, as well as the development of innovative products and sensors for effective detection of contaminants. Therefore, nanotechnology presents with a large potential to provide an opportunity for the researchers of food science, food microbiology, and other fields to develop new tools for incorporation of nanoparticles into food systems that could augment existing functions and add new ones. However, the number of relative publications currently available is rather small. The present Research Topic aims to provide with basic information and practical applications regarding all aspects related to the applications of nanotechnology in food science and food microbiology, namely nanoparticle synthesis, especially through the eco-friendly perspective, potential applications in food processing, biosensor development, alternative strategies for effective pathogenic bacteria monitoring, as well as the possible effects on human health and the environment.

Enterprise and Economic Development in Africa Dina M. Nziku, John J. Struthers, 2021-06-11 Presenting a topical analysis of the challenges and achievements of enterprise, Enterprise and Economic Development in Africa examines contributions to economic development on the continent as well as exploring implications for policy dimensions.

Philosophy, Language, and Literature in an African Context Wilfred Lajul, 2024-12-16 Philosophy, Language and Literature in an African Context investigates the link between philosophy and language in African literature. Wilfred Lajul and the contributors argue that African literature is more than the desire of literary writers to entertain or provoke thought but rather a stylistic means through which they convey important information and philosophy. This book also probes into theories, contexts, and moral language in African literature, exploring their implications for language use. The contributors analyze linguistic, philosophical, and cultural worldviews of the African literary writers shown within their poetry, novels, and plays. This book provides new ways of understanding the relationship between philosophy and language in African literature.

Multidisciplinary Explorations of Corohysteria Caused by the COVID-2019 Pandemic Abdul Karim Bangura,2022-04-21 This multidisciplinary volume includes an international roster of contributors who explore how mass hysteria has emerged among people across the globe as a consequence of the COVID 19 pandemic The contributors provide international perspectives on the effects of this corohysteria in areas such as education healthcare religion psychology mathematics economics media racism politics etc They argue the hysteria angst fear unrest and difficulties associated with the pandemic are exploited to foster political and social agendas and have led to the undermining of national and global responses to the virus

Collaboration of Women's and Men's Leadership Edith Khakasa Chemorion,2023-02-24 Moving from Hegemony to Partnership in Leadership When God created women and men the intention was for them to be partners with each other and to serve in the world as cocreators with God The story of human beings however has been impacted with culture and other social factors to create different forms of hegemonies These hegemonies have been key in values that create social injustices that are in all spheres of life but more so in women and men relationships In cases of leadership and in many cultures men have adopted attitudes that justify exclusion of women from leadership In religious circles it is justified by the ways texts are read and interpreted through the lens of culture If we begin from the premises of justice and believing in a God of justice then hegemonic ways of understating leadership should be null and void Acknowledging that human beings are created in the image and likeness of God demands that we act differently What this has meant is to challenge injustice in leadership by men and women in partnership The circle of concerned African women theologians in Africa where Rev Edith Chemorion is a member has over the years provided safe spaces for mentoring women to research and write about the experiences of women but much more so to call for justice in all areas including the study of theological education and for leadership in the churches This has borne results because of the partnership of men and women Reverend Edith s contributions to the rallying call is that society moves from hegemony to partnership in all fronts but especially in offering leadership by all We are strong when we partner and we image God s will for society in partnership Prof Esther Mombo Lecturer Faculty of Theology St Paul s University Limuru Kenya

Biographical Dictionary of Scottish Women Elizabeth L. Ewan,Sue Innes,Sian Reynolds,Rose Pipes,2007-06-27 This single volume dictionary presents the lives of individual Scottish women from earliest times to the present Drawing on newscholarship and a wide network of professional and amateur historians it throws light on the experience of women from every class and category in Scotland and among the worldwide Scottish diaspora The Biographical Dictionary of Scottish Women is written for the general reading public and for students of Scottish history and society It is scholarly in its approach to evidence and engaging in the manner of its presentation Each entry makes sense of its subject in narrative terms telling a

Literature and Human Rights Ian Ward,2015-03-10 The idea of human rights is not new But the importance of taking rights seriously has never been more urgent The eighteen essays which comprise Literature and Human Rights are written as a contribution to this vital debate Each moreover is written in the spirit of interdisciplinarity reaching across the myriad constitutive disciplines of law literature and the humanities in order to present an array of alternative perspectives on the nature and meaning of human rights in the modern world The taking of human rights seriously it will be suggested depends just as much on taking seriously the idea of the human as it does the idea of rights

The Status of Student Involvement in University Governance in Kenya Mulinge, Munyae M.,Arasa, Josephine N.,2017-05-05 This book examines the concept of the democratization of governance in universities in Kenya with particular emphasis on students involvement in governance processes and decision making Data were collected from members of the student community utilizing a structured self administered questionnaire and from purposively selected key informants and focus group discussants drawn from Kenyatta University representing the public sector and the United States International University representing the private sector The guiding argument for the study was that shared governance one of the principles of good governance is critical in enabling the universities to deliver their visions and the missions effectively The results revealed that while in principle Kenyan universities have embraced democratic governance in which all stakeholders including students have a role to play in practice they continue to violate the core principles of good governance particularly shared governance Specifically students who are major stakeholders in university education are largely excluded from significant structures of governance thereby limiting their influence and participation Although their representation is mainly provided via student self governance organs unions associations and or councils their effectiveness is undermined considerably by the lack of trust and confidence of the student body and the unending manipulation by top university administrators and external political actors Student active involvement in decision making is mainly confined to lower levels such as the school faculty and departmental programme The authors call for a paradigm shift in the involvement of students in the governance of universities in ways that discourage the current culture of tokenism and political correctness that characterizes public and private universities in Kenya
