Organic Writing Assessment Dynamic Criteria Mapping In Action:

Organic Writing Assessment Bob Broad, Linda Adler-Kassner, Barry Alford, Jane Detweiler, Heidi Estrem, Susanmarie Harrington, Maureen McBride, Eric Stalions, Scott Weeden, 2009-09-05 Educators strive to create assessment cultures in which they integrate evaluation into teaching and learning and match assessment methods with best instructional practice But how do teachers and administrators discover and negotiate the values that underlie their evaluations Bob Broad's 2003 volume What We Really Value introduced dynamic criteria mapping DCM as a method for eliciting locally informed context sensitive criteria for writing assessments The impact of DCM on assessment practice is beginning to emerge as more and more writing departments and programs adopt adapt or experiment with DCM approaches For the authors of Organic Writing Assessment the DCM experience provided not only an authentic assessment of their own programs but a nuanced language through which they can converse in the always vexing potentially divisive realm of assessment theory and practice Of equal interest are the adaptations these writers invented for Broad's original process to make DCM even more responsive to local needs and exigencies Organic Writing Assessment represents an important step in the evolution of writing assessment in higher education This volume documents the second generation of an assessment model that is regarded as scrupulously consistent with current theory it shows DCM's flexibility and presents an informed discussion of its limits and its potentials

A Critical Look at Institutional Mission Joseph Janangelo, 2016-09-01 This book explores the relevance of institutional mission to writing program administration and writing center direction It helps WPAs and writing center directors understand the challenges and opportunities mission can pose to their work It also examines ways WPAs and writing center directors can work with and against mission statements and legacy practices to do their best work

Assessing Writing to Support Learning Sandra Murphy, Peggy O'Neill, 2022-11-08 In this book authors Murphy and O'Neill propose a new way forward moving away from high stakes test based writing assessment and the curriculum it generates and toward an approach to assessment that centers on student learning and success Reviewing the landscape of writing assessment and existing research based theories on writing the authors demonstrate how a test based approach to accountability and current practices have undermined effective teaching and learning of writing This book bridges the gap between real world writing that takes place in schools college and careers and the writing that students are asked to do in standardized writing assessments to offer a new ecological approach to writing assessment Murphy and O'Neill's new way forward turns accountability inside out to help teachers understand the role of formative assessments and assessment as inquiry It also brings the outside in by bridging the gap between authentic writing and writing assessment Through these two strands readers learn how assessment systems can be restructured to become better aligned with contemporary understandings of writing and with best practices in teaching With examples of assessments from elementary school through college chapters include guidance on designing assessments to address multiple kinds of writing integrate reading with writing and incorporate digital technology and multimodality Emphasizing the central role that teachers play in systemic reform the authors offer sample assessments developed with intensive teacher involvement that support learning and provide information for the evaluation of programs and schools This book is an essential resource for graduate students instructors scholars and policymakers in writing assessment composition and English education Teaching L2 Composition Dana R. Ferris, John Hedgcock, 2014 This popular comprehensive theory to practice text is designed to help teachers understand the task of writing L2 writers the different pedagogical models used in current composition teaching and reading writing connections Moving from general themes to specific pedagogical concerns it includes practice oriented chapters on the role of genre task construction course and lesson design writing assessment feedback error treatment and classroom language grammar vocabulary style instruction Although all topics are firmly grounded in relevant research a distinguishing feature of the text is the array of hands on practical examples materials and tasks that pre and in service teachers can use to develop the complex skills involved in teaching second language writing Each chapter includes Questions for Reflection Further Reading and Resources Reflection and Review and Application Activities An ideal text for L2 teacher preparation courses courses that include both L1 and L2 students and workshops for instructors of L2 writers in academic secondary and postsecondary settings the accessible synthesis of theory and research enables readers to see the relevance of the field's knowledge base to their own present or future classroom settings and student writers Exploring Composition Studies Kelly Ritter, Paul Kei Matsuda, 2012-04-30 Kelly Ritter and Paul Kei Matsuda have created an essential introduction to the field of composition studies for graduate students and instructors new to the study of writing The book offers a careful exploration of this diverse field focusing specifically on scholarship of writing and composing Within this territory the authors draw the boundaries broadly to include allied sites of research such as professional and technical writing writing across the curriculum programs writing centers and writing program administration Importantly they represent composition as a dynamic eclectic field influenced by factors both within the academy and without The editors and their sixteen seasoned contributors have created a comprehensive and thoughtful exploration of composition studies as it stands in the early twenty first century Given the rapid growth of this field and the evolution of its research and pedagogical agendas over even the last ten years this multi vocal introduction is long overdue We Need to Talk Michael Theune, Bob Broad, 2017-10-24 We evaluate poems constantly as workshop leaders competition judges and journal editors But how do we judge the success of verse in these contexts The authors propose an innovative method by which anyone involved in the assessment of poetry can be more transparent about how they value verse This book foregrounds the ethical and professional obligations of poets teachers and critics to conduct axiological inquiry so they can discover and publish what they value We Need to Talk suggests why and how people who care about poetry should communally explore and document their shared and conflicting values This is the first book to provide the background and theory as well as a practical working model for the communal empirical evaluation of creative writing Writing the Classroom Stephen E. Neaderhiser, 2022-11-21 Writing the Classroom explores how faculty compose and use pedagogical documents to establish classroom expectations and teaching practices as well as to articulate the professional identities they perform both inside and outside the classroom The contributors to this unique collection employ a wide range of methodological frameworks to demonstrate how pedagogical genres even ones as seemingly straightforward as the class syllabus have lives extending well beyond the classroom as they become part of how college teachers represent their own academic identities advocate for pedagogical values and negotiate the many external forces that influence the act of teaching Writing the Classroom shines a light on genres that are often treated as two dimensional with purely functional purposes arguing instead that genres like assignment prompts course proposals teaching statements and policy documents play a fundamental role in constructing the classroom and the broader pedagogical enterprise within academia Writing the Classroom calls on experienced teachers and faculty administrators to critically consider their own engagement with pedagogical genres and offers graduate students and newer faculty insight into the genres that they may only now be learning to inhabit as they seek to establish their personal teacherly identities It showcases the rhetorical complexity of the genres written in the service of pedagogy not only for students but also for the many other audiences within academia that have a role in shaping the experience of teaching Contributors Michael Albright Lora Arduser Lesley Erin Bartlett Logan Bearden Lindsay Clark Dana Comi Zack K De Piero Matt Dowell Amy Ferdinandt Stolley Mark A Hannah Megan Knight Laura R Micciche Cindy Mooty Dustin Morris Kate Navickas Kate Nesbit Jim Nugent Lori A Ostergaard Cynthia Pengilly Jessica Rivera Mueller Christina Saidy Megan Schoen Virginia Schwarz Christopher Toth

Teaching Literature to Adolescents Richard Beach, Deborah Appleman, Bob Fecho, Rob Simon, 2020-12-28 Now in its fourth edition this popular textbook introduces prospective and practicing English teachers to current methods of teaching literature in middle and high school classrooms This new edition broadens its focus to cover important topics such as critical race theory perspectives on teaching fiction nonfiction and drama the integration of digital literacy and teacher research for ongoing learning and professional development It underscores the value of providing students with a range of different critical approaches and tools for interpreting texts It also addresses the need to organize literature instruction around topics and issues of interest to today's adolescents By using authentic dilemmas and contemporary issues the authors encourage preservice English teachers and their instructors to raise and explore inquiry based questions that center on the teaching of a variety of literary texts both classic and contemporary traditional and digital New to the Fourth Edition Expanded attention to digital tools multimodal learning and teaching online New examples of teaching contemporary texts Expanded discussion and illustration of formative assessment Revised response activities for incorporating young adult literature into the literature curriculum Real world examples of student work to illustrate how students respond to the suggested strategies Extended focus on infusing multicultural and diverse literature in the classroom Each chapter is organized around specific questions that preservice teachers consistently raise as they prepare to become English language arts teachers The authors model critical inquiry throughout the text by offering authentic case narratives that raise important considerations of both theory and practice A companion website a favorite of English education instructors <http://teachingliterature.pbworks.com> provides resources and enrichment activities inviting teachers to consider important issues in the context of their current or future classrooms Guide to College Writing Assessment Peggy O'Neill, Cindy Moore, Brian Huot, 2009-03-20 While most English professionals feel comfortable with language and literacy theories assessment theories seem more alien English professionals often don't have a clear understanding of the key concepts in educational measurement such as validity and reliability nor do they understand the statistical formulas associated with psychometrics But understanding assessment theory and applying it by those who are not psychometricians is critical in developing useful ethical assessments in college writing programs and in interpreting and using assessment results A Guide to College Writing Assessment is designed as an introduction and source book for WPAs department chairs teachers and administrators Always cognizant of the critical components of particular teaching contexts O'Neill Moore and Huot have written sophisticated but accessible chapters on the history theory application and background of writing assessment and they offer a dozen appendices of practical samples and models for a range of common assessment needs Because there are numerous resources available to assist faculty in assessing the writing of individual students in particular classrooms A Guide to College Writing Assessment focuses on approaches to the kinds of assessment that typically happen outside of individual classrooms placement evaluation exit examination programmatic assessment and faculty evaluation Most of all the argument of this book is that creating the conditions for meaningful college writing assessment hinges not only on understanding the history and theories informing assessment practice but also on composition programs availing themselves of the full range of available assessment practices
