Sharing the Journey David Yellin, 2017-05-12 This wonderful resource from two authors with an infectious enthusiasm for children s literature will help readers select and share quality books for and with young children Specifically focused on infants through the third grade Sharing the Journey contains descriptive book annotations instructive commentary and creative teaching activities tailored for those important years Extensive book lists throughout will help readers build a library of quality children's literature Books representing other cultures are included to help celebrate diversity as well as cultural connection Genre chapters include poetry fantasy and realistic and historical fiction A chapter on informational books demonstrates how young children can be introduced to and learn to enjoy nonfiction Emotional Disturbance in Children James L. Paul, Betty Cooper Epanchin, 1982 The Challenge of Teaching Gretchen Geng, Pamela Smith, Paul Black, 2016-10-11 This book presents thirty one accounts by final year pre service teachers providing guidance and insights for less advanced teacher education students and illustrating the use of life history and narrative stories as methods for pre service teachers to explore educational issues in classroom practice This life history approach identifies those political economic and social forces that have impinged on the individual at different points in their life and contributed to the process of changing their identities These stories are not written by established specialists in the areas they deal with but instead by novice teachers at the beginning of their paths towards mastering the intricacies of teaching and learning in school settings As such the book provides a mentoring framework and a means of helping pre service teachers share their valuable experiences and insights into aspects such as how to manage practicum requirements It helps establish a supportive relationship among pre service teachers providing them with access to valuable peer experiences In addition it helps pre service teachers make sense of their own practicum experiences and reflect on their own beliefs and professional judgement to develop their approaches and solve problems in their own classroom practice Rationality: The Critical View J. Agassi, I.C. Jarvie, 2012-12-06 In our papers on the rationality of magic we distinguished for purposes of analysis three levels of rationality First and lowest rationality<sup>1</sup> the goal directed action of an agent with given aims and circumstances where among his circumstances we included his knowledge and opinions On this level the magician's treatment of illness by incantation is as rational as any traditional doctor's blood letting or any modern one's use of anti biotics At the second level rationality<sup>2</sup> we add the element of rational thinking or thinking which obeys some set of explicit rules a level which is not found in magic in general though it is sometimes given to specific details of magical thinking within the magical thought system It was the late Sir Edward E Evans Pritchard who observed that when considering magic in detail the magician may be as consistent or critical as anyone else but when considering magic in general or any system of thought in general the magician could not be critical or even comprehend the criticism Evans Pritchard went even further he was sceptical as to whether it could be done in a truly consistent manner one cannot be critical of one's own system he thought On this level rationality<sup>2</sup> of discussion we have explained earlier why we prefer to wed Evans Pritchard's view of the magician's capacity for piecemeal rationality to Sir James Frazer's view that magic in general is pseudo rational because it lacks standards of rational thinking Current
