Integrating Customer Focus Across the Firm by Wilson Zeithaml Bitner and Gremler uniquely focuses on the development of customer relationships through quality service. Reflecting the increasing importance of the service economy, Services Marketing is the only text that put the customer's experience of services at the centre of its approach. The core theories, concepts and frameworks are retained and specifically the gaps model, a popular feature of the book. The text moves from the foundations of services marketing before introducing the gaps model and demonstrating its application to services marketing. In the second edition, the book takes on more European and International contexts to reflect the needs of courses, lecturers and students. The second edition builds on the wealth of European and International examples, cases and research in the first edition, offering more integration of European content. It has also been fully updated with the latest research to ensure that it continues to be seen as the text covering the very latest services marketing thinking. In addition, the cases section has been thoroughly examined and revised to offer a range of new case studies with a European and global focus. The online resources have also been fully revised and updated, providing an excellent package of support for lecturers and students.

Activity Theory in Practice Harry Daniels, Anne Edwards, Yrjö Engeström, Tony Gallagher, Sten R. Ludvigsen, 2013-05-13. This groundbreaking book brings together cutting-edge researchers who study the transformation of practice through the enhancement and transformation of expertise. This is an important moment for such a contribution because expertise is in transition, moving toward collaboration in inter-organizational fields and continuous shaping of transformations. To understand and master this transition, powerful new conceptual tools are needed and are provided here. The theoretical framework which has shaped these studies is Cultural Historical Activity Theory (CHAT). CHAT analyses how people and organisations learn to do something new and how both individuals and organisations change. The theoretical and methodological tools used have their origins in the work of Lev Vygotsky and A. N. Leont'ev. In recent years, this body of work has aroused significant interest across the social sciences, management and communication studies. Working as part of an integrated international team, the authors identify specific findings which are of direct interest to the academic community, such as the analysis of vertical learning between operational and strategic levels within complex organizations, the refinement of notions of identity and subject position within CHAT, the introduction of the concept of labour power into CHAT, the development of a method of analysing discourse which theoretically coheres with CHAT and the design of projects. Activity Theory in Practice will be highly useful to practitioners, researchers, students and policy makers who are interested in conceptual and empirical issues in all aspects of activity-based research.
