Maintaining Social Well-Being and Meaningful Work in a Highly Automated Job Market Hai-Jew, Shalin, 2020-04-03. In mainstream media, there has been wide discussion on what the world will look like when artificial intelligence (AI) and robotics incursions into traditional human work result in fewer jobs in manufacturing, service industries, and other domains. Turning to automation is a practical endeavor for corporations because of the efficiencies and increased performance it fosters, but these changes have a major impact on humanity. The resulting lack of work has been linked to social ills and human failure to thrive. Maintaining Social Well-Being and Meaningful Work in a Highly Automated Job Market is a pivotal reference source that explores how the world will reshape as one with less demand for human labor and how to potentially balance how people engage as part workers and as consumers of others' creations. Additionally, the book looks at how people will co-create meaningful lives at micro, meso, and macro levels. While highlighting topics such as mobile technology, positive psychological capital, and human capital, this book is ideally designed for technologists, AI designers, robotics designers, policymakers, social engineers, CIOs, politicians, executives, economists, researchers, and students. The Art of War for Talent. How Companies Can Gain a Competitive Advantage by Fostering a Culture of Intrinsic Motivation and Meaningful Work Niklas Baier, 2020-04-23 Bachelor Thesis from the year 2019 in the subject Business economics Review of Business Studies grade 1 3 Technical University of Munich TUM School of Management Chair for Management Accounting language English abstract The bachelor thesis combines theories literature lab and field experiments event studies from the industry and its very own empirical research to argue from both a strategic as well as a financial perspective that an inimitable organizational culture of intrinsic motivation and meaningful work may constitute a source of competitive advantage within the War for Talent The thesis strives at highlighting the importance for firms to adapt to the newly emerged competitive environment that the ongoing War for Talent has created by considering their people as their most valuable asset for the success of the organization as already hinted at throughout The Art of War by Sun Tzu in 500 BC hence the reference in the title of this thesis After a brief review of the circumstances that led to the emergence of the War for Talent and first implications for the industry it is argued from a strategic perspective why motivated talent depicts the key resource for competitive advantage and why conventional extrinsic incentive measures aimed at maximizing productivity are no longer effective Afterwards a proposition will be made of how capitalizing on intrinsic motivation human s inner drive to accomplish inherently interesting and challenging tasks fostered through a framework of meaningful work might be the decisive driver to get ahead in the quest for talent A second string of argumentation draws a connection between meaningful work and superior financial performance This proposition is then tested by an empirical analysis comparing the financial performance of publicly traded companies featured on the 2017 Fortune 100 Best Companies to Work For list against a control portfolio and the broad market confirming significant differences for cumulative stock returns
