Contemporary Perspectives on Reading and Spelling Clare Wood, Vincent Connelly, 2009-09-10 With contributions from leading international researchers Contemporary Perspectives on Reading and Spelling offers a critique of current thinking on the research literature into reading comprehension and writing Each paper in this volume provides an account of empirical research that challenges aspects of accepted models and widely accepted theories about reading and spelling This book develops the argument for a need to incorporate less widely cited research into popular accounts of written language development and disability challenging the idea that the development of a universal theory of written language development is attainable The arguments within the book are explored in three parts overarching debates in reading and spelling reading and spelling across languages written language difficulties and approaches to teaching Opening up the existing debates and incorporating psychological theory and the politics surrounding the teaching and learning of reading and spelling this edited collection offers some challenging points for reflection about how the discipline of psychology as a whole approaches the study of written language skills Highlighting ground breaking new perspectives this book forms essential reading for all researchers and practitioners with a focus on the development of reading and spelling skills

Reading Randomised Controlled Trials Robert Savage, Amy Fox, Anneka Dawson, Helen Gray, Clare Huxley, 2025-03-03 In early 2021/22 the Flexible Phonics reading intervention a large scale randomised controlled trial took place in 118 schools in England and involved nearly 3 000 children This study aimed to provide valuable insights into the success of largely school based education trials The Flexible Phonics trial proved to be not only an important experiment in improving children's literacy but a case study in which the methodology of single randomised controlled trials in education can be considered Reading Randomised Controlled Trials investigates the complexities of conducting randomised controlled trials in the field of education and how they can be seen as a cultural activity The book emphasises the human operations decision making and actions that drive such trials which are often overlooked in published reports Through the case study of Flexible Phonics the book highlights the key differences between scaled educational trials and other types of trials such as pharmaceutical trials The additional focus on early childhood literacy is of significant educational importance particularly in the context of UK school partial closures in 2020 and 2021 during the Covid 19 pandemic Reading Randomised Controlled Trials is ultimately a unique resource on the implementation of randomised controlled trials in authentic school contexts and for the sustained improvement of practice in education
