The Golden Ticket Irena Smith, 2025-07-30 What do we as parents really mean when we say we want the best for our children Irena Smith tackles this question from a unique vantage point as a former Stanford admissions officer a private Palo Alto college counselor and a mother of three children who struggle to find their place in the long shadow of Stanford University Written as a series of responses to actual college essay prompts this witty raw memoir takes the reader from the smoke filled lobby of the Hebrew Aid Society in Rome where Irena and her parents await asylum with other Soviet refugees in 1977 to the overpriced house she and her husband buy in Palo Alto in 1999 to the hushed inner sanctum of the Stanford admissions office Irena grows a successful college counseling practice but struggles to reconcile the lofty aspirations of tightly wound competitive high school seniors and their anxious parents with her own attempts to keep her family from unraveling as one by one her children are diagnosed with autism learning differences depression and anxiety And although she doesn't initially understand her children or how to help them she will not stop stumbling and learning until she figures it out The Golden Ticket opens a much needed conversation about extreme parenting the weight of generational expectations and what happens when Gen X dreams meet unexpected realities It's a sharp eyed depiction of hard won triumphs and of the messy challenging parts of parenting you won't see on Facebook or Instagram Above all it's an invitation to embrace a broader more generous definition of success
