Site Fights Daniel P. Aldrich, 2011-03-15 One of the most vexing problems for governments is building controversial facilities that serve the needs of all citizens but have adverse consequences for host communities Policymakers must decide not only where to locate often unwanted projects but also what methods to use when interacting with opposition groups In Site Fights Daniel P Aldrich gathers quantitative evidence from close to five hundred municipalities across Japan to show that planners deliberately seek out acquiescent and unorganized communities for such facilities in order to minimize conflict When protests arise over nuclear power plants dams and airports agencies regularly rely on the coercive powers of the modern state such as land expropriation and police repression Only under pressure from civil society do policymakers move toward financial incentives and public relations campaigns Through fieldwork and interviews with bureaucrats and activists Aldrich illustrates these dynamics with case studies from Japan France and the United States The incidents highlighted in Site Fights stress the importance of developing engaged civil society even in the absence of crisis thereby making communities both less attractive to planners of controversial projects and more effective at resisting future threats The Ultimate Guide to Improving Your Credit Rating! Roan Doyle, 2011 Federal Direct Student Loans United States. Lindenmuth, 1998-07-15 You see them on the video shelves with titles such as Domestic Strangers The Bride of Frank The Blood Between Us Strawberry Estates and Sandman Skeptically perhaps you rent one and slip it into the VCR Hey you think this isn't so bad sometimes actually quite good Suddenly you discover that there is a whole range of movies from filmmakers operating outside the studio system that have their own attractions that the big budget fare can't match. You have of course discovered the world of independent filmmaking. Intrigued you begin thinking that maybe you could do this maybe you could make an independent feature film. In this work J R Bookwalter Ronnie Cramer Mike Gingold Eric Stanze Steve Ballot and 20 others tell what it is really like to make an independent feature. Covering such topics as the script equipment actors publicity distribution all facets of production and budgeting these indie filmmakers give a virtual how to for those interested in joining them or just learning more about how those interesting titles end up on video store shelves.
