

COMPARE AND CONTRAST

Read the passage carefully. Identify if the given statements compares (CE) or contrasts (CT) the two characters.

Jen had a best friend whose name was also Jenn but with a double "n." They had beautiful brown eyes and blonde hair. But Jenn had long, wavy hair, while Jen had short, straight hair. They went to the same school and studied in the same class. They enjoyed playing sports together. They both excelled in their artistic talents, with a knack for drawing. One of them had a cat as a pet, while the other had a dog. They had different favorite colors, adding a unique touch to their friendship. They were responsible and often helped each other with homework. Coincidentally, their birthdays were in the same month. They loved their pets very much. Jenn took her cat wherever she went, while Jen's dog was her constant companion. However, tragedy struck when Jen forgot to close her dog's cage one day, and that was the last day she saw her pet. On the other hand, Jenn's cat brought joy to her life, and they played together every night.

1. They studied in the same class and school. _____

Reading Comprehension Difficulties Cesare Cornoldi, Jane V. Oakhill, 2013-04-03 Recognizing the characteristics of children with learning disabilities and deciding how to help them is a problem faced by schools all over the world. Although some disorders are fairly easily recognizable e.g. mental retardation or very specific to single components of performance and quite rare e.g. developmental dyscalculia, schools must consider much larger populations of children with learning difficulties who cannot always be readily classified. These children present high level learning difficulties that affect their performance on a variety of school tasks but the underlying problem is often their difficulty in understanding written text. In many instances despite good intellectual abilities and a superficial ability to cope with written texts and to use language appropriately, some children do not seem to grasp the most important elements or cannot find the pieces of information they are looking for. Sometimes these difficulties are not immediately detected by the teacher in the early school years. They may be hidden because the most obvious early indicators of reading progress in the teacher's eyes do not involve comprehension of written texts or because the first texts a child encounters are quite simple and reflect only the difficulty level of the oral messages, sentences, short stories etc. with which the child is already familiar. However, as years go by and texts get more complex, comprehension difficulties will become increasingly apparent and increasingly detrimental to effective school learning. In turn, studying, assimilating new information and many other situations requiring text comprehension from problem solving to reasoning with linguistic contents could be affected. Problems with decoding, dyslexia and language disorders have attracted more interest from researchers than have specific comprehension problems and have occupied more room in specialized journals. Normal reading comprehension has also been a favorite with researchers. However, scarce interest has been paid to subjects who have comprehension difficulties. This book is an attempt to remedy this situation. In so doing, this volume answers the following questions: Does a reading comprehension problem exist in schools? How important and widespread is the problem? Is the problem specific? How can a reading comprehension difficulty be defined and identified? Does the syndrome have a single pattern or can different subtypes be identified? What are the main characteristics associated with a reading comprehension difficulty? When can other well identified problems add to our understanding of reading comprehension difficulties? Which educational strategies are effective in preventing and treating reading comprehension difficulties? What supplementary information can we get from an international perspective? Understanding Reading

Comprehension Wayne Tennent, 2025-11-05 Reading comprehension is a vital part of literacy that all primary school teachers need to understand. Drawing from educational and psychological research, this book offers a detailed analysis of how reading comprehension happens, combined with practical teaching strategies for the classroom. This heavily revised second edition explores the underlying linguistic and cognitive processes that support comprehension, from inference making to the role of metacognition. It builds on this procedural knowledge to examine text selection, classroom pedagogy and how to assess comprehension This is essential reading for primary English modules on initial teacher education courses including university based PGCE BA w QTS BEd and school based SCITT Teach First routes into teaching and also for current teachers wishing to further develop their knowledge The Oxford Handbook of Deaf Studies in Literacy Susan R. Easterbrooks, Hannah M. Dostal, 2020-11-02 The Oxford Handbook of Deaf Studies in Literacy brings together state of the art research on literacy learning among deaf and hard of hearing learners DHH With contributions from experts in the field this volume covers topics such as the importance of language and cognition phonological or orthographic awareness morphosyntactic and vocabulary understanding reading comprehension and classroom engagement written language and learning among challenged populations Avoiding sweeping generalizations about DHH readers that overlook varied experiences this volume takes a nuanced approach providing readers with the research to help DHH students gain competence in reading comprehension Resources in Education ,2000-10 The Road to Independent Reading and Writing Cathy Collier, 2021-07-30 Transform young learners into independent readers and writers This easy to use classroom resource is packed with routines lessons centers charts resources and teaching tips Break key literacy concepts and skills into manageable teachable pieces Signs for Developing Reading Emil Holmer, 2016-05-23 Reading development is supported by strong language skills not least in deaf and hard of hearing DHH children The work in the present thesis investigates reading development in DHH children who use sign language attend Regional Special Needs Schools RSNS in Sweden and are learning to read The primary aim of the present work was to investigate whether the reading skills of these children can be improved via computerized sign language based literacy training Another aim was to investigate concurrent and longitudinal associations between skills in reading sign language and cognition in this population The results suggest that sign language based literacy training may support development of word reading In addition awareness and manipulation of the sub lexical structure of sign language seem to assist word reading and imitation of familiar signs i e vocabulary may be associated with developing reading comprehension The associations revealed between sign language skills and reading development support the notion that sign language skills provide a foundation for emerging reading skills in DHH signing children In addition the results also suggest that working memory and Theory of Mind ToM are related to reading comprehension in this population Furthermore the results indicate that sign language experience enhances the establishment of representations of manual gestures and that progression in ToM seems to be typical although delayed in RSNS pupils Working memory has a central role in integrating environmental stimuli and language mediated representations and thereby provides a platform for cross modal language processing and multimodal language development En god språklig förmåga bidrar till god läsutveckling inte minst hos döv och hörselskadade D H barn Studierna som ingår i avhandlingen undersöker läsutveckling hos D H elever som gör teckenspråkiga specialskolor och som hellre pratar än skriver Arbetets huvudsakliga syfte var att undersöka om deras läsförmåga kan förbättras via datoriserad teckenspråksbaserad lästräning Ett annat syfte var att undersöka samtida och longitudinella samband mellan läsning och teckenspråk och kognition i samma population. Resultaten indikerar att teckenspråksbaserad läsning kan bidra till ordläsningsutveckling. Vidare pekar resultaten på att medvetenhet om och manipulation av teckenspråkets sublexikala struktur stöttar läsningen och dessutom att imitation av kända tecken i en vokabulär var associerat med utvecklingen av barnens läsning. Dessa fynd visar att teckenspråkskunskaper kan utgöra en grund för läsutveckling hos teckenspråkiga. D.H. elever. Resultaten indikerade även att arbetsminne och Theory of Mind (ToM) relaterade till läsning i denna grupp. Vid sidan av resultaten rörande läsutveckling framkom också att teckenspråkskärfarenhet leder till starkare etablering av representationer av manuella gester och vidare att barnens mentaliseringsförmåga. Theory of Mind uppvisade en förväntad progression om närvarande. En implikation av detta är att insatser som stöttar utveckling av teckenbaserade representationer och deras användning vid bearbetning av skrivet språk kan främja läsutveckling hos teckenspråkiga. D.H. elever. Arbetsminne fungerar genom sin roll i integration mellan inkommande stimuli och språkmedierade representationer fungera som en plattform för modalitetsverskridande språkbearbetning och multimodal språkutveckling.
