2003-2004,Report,Together with Formal Minutes,Oral and Written Evidence Great Britain. Parliament. House of Commons. Environment, Food and Rural Affairs Committee,2004 The Committees report examines the actions that will be necessary to adapt to changes in flooding and water availability caused by climate change There are a number of steps that the Government should take to reduce future flood risk with a key consideration being the planning of new housing developments to avoid building on flood plains where possible Where this is necessary developments should be designed to be as resilient as possible to flooding utilising sustainable drainage systems and including areas such as parks in order to contain floodwater Existing sewer systems will need upgrading and new systems must be built to cope with higher storm flows Greater attention needs to be paid by the Government to the issue of water shortages due to drier summers including considering alternative water pricing mechanisms to relate costs more directly to amount used and ensuring building regulations pay greater attention to water efficiency Water companies must also do more to reduce water leakages
