Operation of the Family Courts Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Justice Committee, 2011-07-14 Family Courts will need to be more prepared to cope with litigants representing themselves following Government reforms to Legal Aid MPs on the Commons Justice Committee have warned in a new report The MPs are also calling on the Government to scrap the provisions in the Children Schools and Families Act 2010 to allow media access to Family Courts following universal condemnation of the plans The report recommends that Ministers reformulate proposals to increase transparency in Family Courts putting the views of children centre stage The committee rejects the Family Justice Panel's Interim Report recommendation that a statement be introduced into legislation to reinforce the importance of a child having a meaningful relationship with both parents The MPs believe it ought to be obvious to the courts and to parents that a child deserves a meaningful relationship with both parents but that inclusion of a statement in the law could create confusion and the mistaken impression the law had changed The committee also calls on judges to reduce the costs and delays in case management associated with expert reports Judges should be encouraged to where possible insist on joint reports and require clear explanations of why additional assessments are needed ensuring the parties solicitors work together to reduce the number of questions for the expert Government plans to fold Cafcass into the proposed new Family Justice Service do not go far enough according to the report The committee calls for this to be the first step in a series of reforms designed to transform the body into a less process driven more child focused and integral part of family justice Cities, Migration, and Governance Felicitas Hillmann, Michael Samers, 2023-07-31 This volume examines how cities migration and urban governance are intertwined Questioning and re working the conceptual reliance on scales and levels it draws on examples from both Europe and North America to conceptualize the variety of cities as re active and pro active within global and socio territorial dynamics The book covers the governance of the myriad dimensions of urban life such as work housing racism Islamophobia xenophobia the arts leisure and other cultural practices political participation social movements and contentious politics in North American and European cities While cities might implement integration policies the chapters do not necessarily assume that migrants live with the telos of integration but rather conduct their lives as anyone else would making meaning and voicing concerns under often difficult material conditions strewn with the markers of race religion gender sexuality age and often illegality The volume highlights four arguments themes or contributions addressed by one or more of the chapters how demographic change is prompting more pro active urban governance responses in many cities in the 21st century how the sheer complexity of migration in the 21st century is shaping the participation of citizen civil society actors the growing role of new private actors in the realm of urban governance and the participation of migrants themselves in this governance The book reminds us that we are confronted with a spectrum of urban governance strategies ranging from re active cities to pro active and welcoming cities Both timely and relevant this book collects the work of well known scholars in the field of migration and urban studies The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of Geographical Review

Developing Successful Schools Stephen P. Gordon, 2022-07-21 This book identifies and emphasizes the need for a holistic approach to school improvement when it comes to both the development of the whole child and the relationships among student family and community development In recent years the emphasis in PK 12 education in the United States has been on the measurement of student and school performance by high stakes achievement tests This emphasis has resulted in a narrowed curriculum emphasizing lower level cognitive learning with little attention paid to the moral social and creative development of students families and communities This book argues that PK 12 education needs to shift its focus to holistic qualities of the successful school qualities that reflect a moral rather than a technical approach to education while also improving students academic performance Handbook of School Counseling Hardin L.K.
