Animals and Modern Cultures Adrian Franklin,1999-03-30 The dramatic transformation of relationships between humans and animals in the 20th century are investigated in this fascinating and accessible book At the beginning of this century these relationships were dominated by human needs and interests modernization was a project which was attached to the goal of progress and animals were merely resources to be used on the path towards human fulfilment These relationships are increasingly being subjected to criticism and a new field of interest in human animal relationships has opened up We are now urged to be more sensitive and compassionate to animal needs and interests to understand their mindedness and how their lives and ours are entangled This book focuses on social change and animals it is concerned with how humans relate to animals and how this has changed and why Moreover it highlights through chapters on companion animals hunting and fishing animal leisures such as birdwatching and wildlife parks and the meat and livestock industries how attitudes and practices towards animals vary widely according to social class ethnicity gender region and nation

Napolitano,2019-08-13 This book presents cross discipline studies covering aspects ranging from animal science to social consumer sciences and psychology with the aim to collect and disseminate information promoting the continuous enhancement of animal welfare by improving stakeholders perception of animal welfare Although animal welfare is about how the animals perceive the surrounding environment the actual welfare of the animals is dependent on how the stakeholders perceive and weigh animal welfare The stakeholders can either directly i e through stock people interaction with the animals or indirectly e g when retailers and consumers are willing to pay more for high welfare animal based products affect the way animals are kept and handled The Arrogant Ape Christine Webb,2025-09-02 An impassioned celebration of humility before the living world that leads us to a new understanding of other species and ourselves Darwin considered humans one part of the web of life not the apex of a natural hierarchy Yet today many maintain that we are the most intelligent virtuous successful species that ever lived This flawed thinking enables us to exploit the earth towards our own exclusive ends throwing us into a perilous planetary imbalance But is this view and way of life inevitable The Arrogant Ape shows that human exceptionalism is an ideology that relies more on human culture than our biology more on delusion and faith than on evidence Harvard primatologist Christine Webb has spent years researching the rich social emotional and cognitive lives of our closest living relatives She exposes the ways that many scientific studies are biased against other species and reveals underappreciated complexities of nonhuman life from the language of songbirds and prairie dogs to the cultures of chimpanzees and reef fishes to the acumen of plants and fungi With compelling stories and fresh research she gives us a paradigm shifting way of looking at other organisms on their own terms one that is revolutionizing our perception both of them and of ourselves Critiques of human exceptionalism tend to focus on our moral obligation towards other species They overlook what humanity also stands to gain by dismantling its illusions of uniqueness and superiority This shift in perspective fills us with a sense of awe and satisfies one of our oldest and deepest desires to belong to the larger whole we inhabit What s at stake is a better sustainable way of life with the potential to heal and rejuvenate our shared planet

The Age of Capitalism, Consumer Culture, and the Collapse of Nature in the Anthropocene Jack

Thornburg, 2024-10-02 The Age of Capitalism Consumer Culture and the Collapse of Nature in the Anthropocene argues that the stability of post industrial postmodern society is threatened by the convergence of three distinct yet interrelated crises environmental degradation capitalist economic development and the primacy of consumption and self absorption as the basis for economic development at the expense of community and social relationships Jack Thornburg contrasts advanced modern society with indigenous cultures in terms of nature and conceptions of the communal self The complex nature of capitalist oriented society has influenced how individuals conceptualize themselves The outcome the author contends is a competitive society in which individuals are alienated living in uncertain times One consequence of these crises all of which derive from the Enlightenment and the concomitant appearance and evolution of capitalism has been the destruction of a worldview balancing and connecting well being with prosperity of the natural world Money and materialism cannot buy happiness as capitalist narrative asserts Thornburg claims that the happiness sought by individuals seeking meaning through consumption can only be realized by reintegrating nature with the human spirit The International Encyclopedia of Primatology, 3

Animal Ethics and Moral Pragmatics draws on the theoretical achievements made in ethics political philosophy and human animal studies addressing the problem that these advancements have not resulted in practical change toward significantly improved human animal relations Mara Daria Cojocaru argues that this gap between theory and action can close only if humans live up to the task of becoming passionate animals themselves and passionate about animals as well In the tradition of philosophical pragmatism and with reference to congenial thinkers like Mary Midgley Cojocaru develops a moral pragmatics that highlights the role of emotions in moral and political life and focuses on the institutions necessary to make tangible progress on the problems posed by animal experimentation and factory farming Metamorphoses of the Zoo Ralph R. Acampora, 2010-06-14 Metamorphoses of the Zoo Animal Encounter After Noah is a volume dedicated to radically transformative approaches to spaces set aside as zoological parks or gardens Historically these establishments served as symbols of power and venues for entertainment but today they have taken to portraying themselves as flagships of environmental education scientific research and wildlife conservation Along with the past century's turn in exhibition design toward increasingly naturalistic architecture such portrayals have been received by many in an uncritically positive light At the same time it remains clear that zoos are immensely popular attractions drawing hundreds of millions of visitors globally per year This level of participation is consistent with the suggestion that humans harbor a strong sense of biophilia one which moves them to seek out diverse life forms when their own territories become too biologically homogenous from such a vantage it is no accident that zoos are most often situated in urbanizing areas Metamorphoses of the Zoo emphasizes creative and reconstructive analyses of zoos that do not simply advocate marginal reform or quick abolition By focusing on issues such as interspecies progress and eco psychological health this unique collection will satisfy those in disciplines ranging from ecophilosophy to humanistic psychology to environmental studies Writing about Animals in the Age of Revolution Jane Spencer, 2020 Explores a broad canvas of canonical and non canonical writing during the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries to trace a connection between shifting attitudes to animals and the emergence of radical political claims based on universal rights Animals and Sociology K. Peggs, 2012-04-17 Animals and Sociology challenges traditional assumptions about the nature of sociology Sociology often centres on humans however other animals are everywhere in society Kay Peggs explores the significant contribution that sociology can make to our understanding of human relations with other animals
