Insights from Research in Science Teaching and Learning Nicos Papadouris, Angela Hadjigeorgiou, Constantinos P. Constantinou, 2015-11-02 This book includes studies that represent the state of the art in science education research and convey a sense of the variation in educational traditions around the world. The papers are organized into six main sections: science teaching processes, conceptual understanding, reasoning strategies, early years science education, and affective and social aspects of science teaching and learning. The volume features 18 papers selected from the most outstanding papers presented during the 10th European Science Education Research Association (ESERA) Conference held in Nicosia, Cyprus, in September 2013. The theme of the conference was Science Education Research for Evidence-based Teaching and Coherence in Learning. The studies presented underline aspects of great relevance in contemporary science education: the need to reflect on different approaches to enhance our knowledge of learning processes and the role of context; designed or circumstantial, formal or non-formal, in learning and instruction. These studies are innovative in the issues they explore, the methods they use, or the ways in which emergent knowledge in the field is represented. The book is of interest to science educators and science education researchers with a commitment to evidence-informed teaching and learning.

Biomedical Insights that Inform the Diagnosis of ME/CFS Brett A. Lidbury, Paul R. Fisher, 2020-03-16

Myalgic encephalomyelitis chronic fatigue syndrome ME CFS is a severe chronic health condition that is often misunderstood or ignored by health establishments The lack of definitive diagnostic markers to separate ME CFS patients from the healthy population as well as from other chronic disorders is problematic for both health professionals and researchers A consortium of Australian researchers gathered to systematically understand ME CFS ranging from a deep analysis of clinical and pathology data to metabolomic profiles and the investigation of mitochondrial function From this broad collaboration a number of compelling insights have arisen that may form the basis of specific serum blood and or urinary biomarkers of ME CFS This Special Edition reports on a conference centred on these biomedical discoveries with other contributions with a translation focus for predictive markers for ME CFS diagnosis By supporting health professionals with developments in diagnostics for this condition the patients and their families will hopefully benefit from an improved recognition of the biomedical underpinnings of the condition and will be better able to access the care that is urgently required This Special Edition contains a mix of speaker submissions and other accepted manuscripts that contributed to our objective of advancing biomedical insights to enable the accurate diagnosis of ME CFS Springer Handbook of Automation Shimon Y.
