Challenges of Conflicting School Reforms Mark Berends, JoAn Chun, Gina Schuyler Ikemoto, Sue Stockly, R. J. Briggs, 2002-03-29 A decade ago New American Schools NAS launched an ambitious effort for whole school reform to address the perceived lagging achievement of American students and the lackluster school reform attempts that have produced so few meaningful changes As a private nonprofit organization NAS set out to help schools and districts significantly raise the achievement of large numbers of students by offering whole school designs and design-based assistance during the implementation process NAS is currently in the scale up phase of its effort and its designs are being widely diffused to schools across the nation During the 1997_1998 and 1998_1999 school years RAND assessed the effects of NAS designs on classroom practice and student achievement in a sample of schools in a high poverty district RAND found that high poverty schools often have fragmented and conflicting environments with difficult and changing political currents and entrenched unions Teachers in high poverty schools tend to face new accountability systems and fluctuating reform agendas These teachers generally lack sufficient time for implementing reform efforts often becoming demoralized and losing their enthusiasm for the difficult task of improving student performance under difficult conditions RAND concluded that high stakes tests may motivate schools to increase performance and to seek out new curricula and instructional strategies associated with comprehensive school reforms However those same tests may provide disincentives to adopt richer more in-depth curricula that can succeed in improving the learning opportunities of all students particularly those in high poverty settings

Leading With Inquiry and Action Matthew Militello, Sharon F. Rallis, Ellen B. Goldring, 2009-07-23 This essential guide for educational leaders skillfully blends scholarship with practice and integrates theory with real world examples Through case studies the authors show the reader how to develop support and improve a collaborative inquiry action process for improving teaching and learning If we are going to have schools that successfully educate all students to high standards then we need principals who translate the lessons of this book into practice Andrew Lachman Executive Director Connecticut Center for School Change Enhance learning with a collaborative inquiry based system of leadership With sociopolitical forces prompting calls for school improvement school leaders look for ways to expand their expertise in instructional leadership and strengthen their role in shaping classroom practice Leading With Inquiry and Action presents a systematic ongoing process for collecting information making decisions and taking action to improve instruction and raise student achievement The authors illustrate this collaborative inquiry action cycle with a running vignette of an experienced principal and offer questions and exercises to guide individual reflection and group discussion Thoroughly grounded in research this book helps administrators Identify areas for instructional improvement Determine community supported solutions and build stakeholder commitment Articulate an action plan based on multiple data sources Take steps that support teacher development Systematically evaluate program results Educational improvement requires informed leadership This practical guide provides an efficient and functional framework for transforming current or aspiring principals into inquiry minded action oriented instructional leaders From Rigorous Standards to Student Achievement Laura Mc Cullough, Michael D.
