Orient Fiktion Realit T Critical Analysis:

Fictionality and Reality in Narrative Discourse Li-fen Chen, 2000-01-20 This dissertation is an attempt to define a Chinese modernism exemplified by the narrative practices of four major writers in Taiwan today from the perspective of comparative literature and recent development of literary theory I propose that modernity of Taiwanese fiction is not so much a result of Western influences as an evolution of Chinese narrative tradition itself To argue my point I delineate a poetics of Chinese narrative from which I devise a method of reading and a criterion of evaluation for contemporary Taiwanese fiction in defining its achievement and historical significance This study of Taiwanese fiction also aims at providing a better understanding of fundamental aesthetic assumptions of Western modernism in the context of its own literary tradition Chapter One Introduction investigates the theoretical foundation and its line of development in Western and Chinese poetics respectively It first examines the Platonic view of mimesis and Aristotelian aesthetic view of fictionality and their influence on the critical tradition the continuity of the ancient battle between philosophy and poetry as seen in the structuralist and deconstructionist theories then the relationship between subjective fictionality and ironic objectivity in Chinese poetics the continuity of the dilemma in the Chinese novelists in their dual allegiance to the ideal and the real A final section gives a critical overview of the literary scene in Taiwan The following four chapters provide examples of the internal tension between fictionality and ironic awareness in the Taiwanese modernist texts I suggest that instead of stretching the metaphorical potential of fiction to a highly intellectualized abstraction or playing down the interpretive claims of fiction by dramatizing its vulnerability like their Western counterpart the Taiwanese modernists create their texts on the borderline between the high and the low Self assertive as well as self denying each of them confronts his own intellectual vision with paradox and ambivalence In Ch en Ying chen this is expressed as a battle between a lyrical vision of ideological values and an instinctive self clowning in Ch i teng Sheng as a form of competition between pattern and contingency in Wang Chen ho as a celebration and abuse of the fictionality of fiction and in Wang Wen hsing an intense self parody I conclude that the sensitivity to the irrational and contradiction inherent with a resistance to didacticism constitutes the best part of the Chinese humanistic tradition which is continuously enriched with new dimensions by the contemporary Taiwanese writers

The Orient in Chaucer and Medieval Romance Carol Falvo Heffernan, 2003 A study of romance and the Orient in Chaucer and in anonymous popular metrical romances The idea of the Orient is a major motif in Chaucer and medieval romance and this new study reveals much about its use and significance setting the literature in its historical context and thereby offering fresh new readings of a number of texts The author begins by looking at Chaucer's and Gower's treatment of the legend of Constance as told by the Man of Law demonstrating that Chaucer's addition of a pattern of mercantile details highlights the commercial context of the eastern Mediterranean in which the heroine is placed she goes on to show how Chaucer's portraits of Cleopatra and Dido from the Legend of Good Women read against parallel texts especially in Boccaccio reveal them to be loci of medieval orientalism She then examines Chaucer's inventive handling of details taken from Eastern sources and analogues in the Squire's Tale showing how he shapes them into the western form of interlace The author concludes by looking at two romances Floris and Blancheflur and Le Bone Florence of Rome she argues that elements in Floris of sibling incest are legitimised into a quest for the beloved and demonstrates that Le Bone Florence be related to analogous oriental tales about heroic women who remain steadfast in virtue against persecution and adversity Professor CAROL F HEFFERNAN teaches in the Department of English Rutgers University Library of Congress Catalogs Library of Congress, 1977

Subject Catalog, 1976 Library of Congress, 1976 Toni Morrison and the Limits of a Politics of Recognition

William Jefferson, 2014-05-25 Is Toni Morrison's writing as politically progressive as is widely assumed In this eye opening study critic William Jefferson argues that it is not Analyzing Morrison's major texts from the 1970s 80s and 90s Jefferson argues that Morrison's writing has advanced problematic conceptions of racial essentialism sexuality and agency that would not be identified as in any way progressive if issued from the pen of a white writer More than merely showing readers underappreciated aspects of African American history Morrison's fiction has actively intervened in the politics of her era and in ways politically reactionary and disturbing Stepping back from Morrison's fiction Jefferson asks why scholars have not recognized these political aspects of Morrison's writing What he finds is a purportedly left wing academy focused predominantly on recognizing the indisputably black aspects of Morrison's work This politics of recognition unfortunately also naturalizes Morrison's representations in the same manner liberal humanist criticism naturalized the representations of the pre 1970 literary canon Studying Fiction Jessica Mason, Marcello Giovanelli, 2021-04-19 Studying Fiction provides a clear rationale alongside ideas and methods for teaching literature in schools from a cognitive linguistic perspective Written by experienced linguists teachers and researchers it offers an overview of recent studies on reading and the mind providing a detailed guide to concepts such as attention knowledge empathy immersion authorial intention characterisation and social justice The book synthesises research from cognitive linguistics in an applied way so that teachers and those researching English in education can consider ways to approach literary reading in the classroom Each chapter draws on the latest research in cognitive stylistics and cognitive poetics discusses a range of ideas related to the whole experience of conceptualising teaching fiction in the classroom and enacting it through practice provides activities and reflection exercises for the practitioner encourages engagement with important issues such as social justice emotion and curriculum design Together with detailed suggestions for further reading and a guide to available resources this is an essential guide for all secondary English teachers as well as those teaching and researching in primary and undergraduate phases The Orient Express Randy Rosenthal, 2024-01-30 When yoga studios are ubiquitous and meditation apps are on millions of smart phones once exotic terms like karma zen and nirvana have entered into everyday English business consultants have appropriated the meditation terms mindfulness and equanimity and Buddha statues and Shinto shrines are common in American yards we forget that things weren't always this way and that what is now considered cliché was once unknown. So how did the spirituality of the East come to permeate the culture of the West? Answering that question is what The Orient Express is about. To do so, Harvard scholar Randy Rosenthal explores the four works of fiction he finds most responsible for bringing Eastern religion to the Western mainstream: The Razor's Edge by W. Somerset Maugham, Siddhartha by Hermann Hesse, Franny and Zooey by J.D. Salinger, and The Dharma Bums by Jack Kerouac. Through the lives of their characters, these authors introduced countless readers to the spiritual practices and philosophies of yoga, Buddhism, Hinduism, Taoism, and the hesychast prayer tradition of Eastern Orthodox Christianity. A compendium of spiritual wisdom in the form of literary criticism, The Orient Express tells the story of these stories, providing illuminating context and clarifying misconceptions along the way.

EnvironMentality. Roman Bartosch, 2013. This book addresses the role and potential of literature in the process of contesting and re-evaluating concepts of nature and animality, describing one's individual environment as the starting point for such negotiations. It employs the notion of the literary event to discuss the specific literary quality of verbal art, conceptualised as EnvironMentality. EnvironMentality is grounded on the understanding that fiction does not explain or second scientific and philosophical notions but that it poses a fundamental challenge to any form of knowledge manifesting in processes determined by the human capacity to think beyond a given hermeneutic situation. Bartosch foregrounds the dialectics of understanding the other by means of literary interpretation in ecocritical readings of novels by Amitav Ghosh, Zakes Mda, Yann Martel, Margaret Atwood, and J.M. Coetzee, arguing that EnvironMentality helps us, as readers of fiction, to learn from the books we read that which can only be learned by means of reading: to think like a mountain (Aldo Leopold) and to know what it is like to be a bat (Thomas Nagel). Imaginary Worlds and Real Ethics in Japanese Fiction Christopher Weinberger, 2024-01-25. Can novels contribute to the ethical lives of readers? What responsibilities might they bear in representing others? Are we ethically accountable for how we read fiction? This study takes up modern Japanese fiction and metafiction, subjects overwhelmingly ignored by Anglophone scholarship on novel ethics, to discover pioneering answers to these and other questions. Each chapter offers new readings of major works of modern Japanese literature, 1880s through 1920s, that experiment with the capacity of novel narration to involve readers in ethically freighted encounters. Christopher Weinberger shows that Mori Ogai and Akutagawa Ryunosuke help to address key issues in new ethical theories today. Debates about the roles that identification and empathy play in novel ethics concerns about the representation of otherness and alterity in novels, divergence between cognitive and affective theories of ethics, widespread disagreement about what novel ethics obtain in the experience of reading, the effects of reading on the form or content of novel representation, and finally concerns with bias and appropriation in the study of world literature. Concluding with a jump to the present, Imaginary Worlds and Real Ethics in Japanese Fiction puts on display a startling continuity between the methods of Japan's modern novel progenitors and those of novelists at the forefront of global literature today especially Haruki Murakami Ultimately this book models an original approach to ethical criticism while demonstrating the relevance of modern Japanese fiction for rethinking contemporary theories of the novel A Subject Index to Current Literature Australian Public Affairs Information Service, Critical Theory Douglas Tallack, 2014-07-15 An anthology of readings and extracts providing a comprehensive introduction to the main schools and positions of critical theory The book is divided into five sections structuralism and poststructuralism psychoanalytical theory Marxism feminism and post foundational ethics and politics It includes a general introduction covering the field of critical theory and identifies founding theorists and movements with a bibliography and notes The Mirror and the Garden: Realism and Reality in the Writings of Anaïs Nin Evelyn J. Hinz, 1973 Narrating Reality Harry E. Shaw, 2018-08-06 Narrating Reality offers a provocative and original critique of nineteenth century British realist fiction and our ways of understanding it Paying close attention to the role of the narrator Harry E Shaw challenges the denigration of realism that has become a critical orthodoxy in recent decades Drawing on such thinkers as Erich Auerbach Jürgen Habermas and J L Austin Shaw contends that realist novels claim not to replicate the world in their pages or to offer transparent access to it but to involve readers in a process of narrative understanding adequate to grasping the complexities of life in history Seen in this light the works of such novelists as Sir Walter Scott Jane Austen and George Eliot as they depict their own and other cultures and strive to imagine regions of freedom in the dense and constricting web of history gain a new interest The Iconography of Painted Ceramics from the Northern Andes Felipe Cárdenas Arroyo, Fred D'Aguiar, Gloria Guardia, Miguel Huezo Mixco, 1998 The Globalization of World Politics John Baylis, Steve Smith, Patricia Owens, 2014 Working from a unique non U S perspective this market leading text provides a coherent accessible and engaging introduction to the globalization of world politics Now in its sixth edition The Globalization of World Politics has been fully revised and updated in light of recent developments in world politics FEATURES Presents contributions from an impressive line up of international experts each of whom provides accessible but stimulating insights into history theory structures processes and other key issues in the field Offers a visually appealing full color interior Provides a strong pedagogical program that includes numerous boxes figures tables maps questions lively examples and case studies Visions of the Buddha Eviatar Shulman, 2021 Visions of the Buddha offers a groundbreaking new approach to the nature of the early discourses of the Buddha the most foundational scriptures of Buddhist religion While the early discourses are commonly considered to be attempts to preserve the Buddha's teachings Shulman demonstrates that these texts are full of creativity driven by inspired storytelling Much of this storytelling is effected through techniques specific to oral literature in which oral formulas can be combined in an infinite variety of ways in order to produce yet more beautified visions of Buddhist truth Reflective Interviewing Kathryn Roulston, 2010-01-21 Qualitative researchers have long made use of many different interview forms Yet for novice researchers making the connections between theory and method is not always easy This book provides a theoretically informed guide for researchers learning how to interview in the social sciences In order to undertake quality research using qualitative interviews a researcher must be able to theorize the application of interviews to investigate research problems in social science research As part of this process researchers examine their subject positions in relation to participants and examine their interview interactions systematically to inform research design This book provides a practical approach to interviewing helping researchers to learn about themselves as interviewers in ways that will inform the design conduct analysis and representation of interview data The author takes the reader through the practicalities of designing and conducting an interview study and relates various forms of interview to different underlying epistemological assumptions about how knowledge is produced The book concludes with practical advice and perspectives from experienced researchers who use interviews as a method of data generation This book is written for a multidisciplinary audience of students of qualitative research methods
