Now we are in the era of big data This significantly increases the volume of data available but it is in a form called unstructured data That is data from sources that are not as easily organized such as data from emails spreadsheets sensors video audio and social media sites There is valuable information in all that data but it calls for new processes to enable it to be analyzed All this has brought with it a renewed and critical need to manage and organize that data with clarity of meaning understandability and interoperability That is you must be able to integrate this data when it is from within an enterprise but also importantly when it is from many different external sources What is described here has been and is being done to varying extents It is called information governance Governing this information however has proven to be challenging But without governance much of the data can be less useful and perhaps even used incorrectly significantly impacting enterprise decision making So we must also respect the needs for information security consistency and validity or else suffer the potential economic and legal consequences Implementing sound governance practices needs to be an integral part of the information control in our organizations This IBM Redbooks publication focuses on the building blocks of a solid governance program It examines some familiar governance initiative scenarios identifying how they underpin key governance initiatives such as Master Data Management Quality Management Security and Privacy and Information Lifecycle Management IBM Information Management and Governance solutions provide a comprehensive suite to help organizations better understand and build their governance solutions The book also identifies new and innovative approaches that are developed by IBM practice leaders that can help as you implement the foundation capabilities in your organizations Quality of Information and Communications Technology Martin Shepperd, Fernando Brito e Abreu, Alberto Rodrigues da Silva, Ricardo Pérez-Castillo, 2020-08-31 This book constitutes the refereed proceedings of the 13th International Conference on the Quality of Information and Communications Technology QUATIC 2020 held in Faro Portugal in September 2020 The 27 full papers and 12 short papers were carefully reviewed and selected from 81 submissions The papers are organized in topical sections quality aspects in machine learning AI and data analytics evidence based software quality engineering human and artificial intelligences for software evolution process modeling improvement and assessment software quality education and training quality aspects in quantum computing safety security and privacy ICT verification and validation RE MDD and agile The conference was held virtually due to the COVID 19 pandemic Implementing and Managing Oracle Databases Steve Lemme, John R.
