Role of Leadership in Facilitating Healing and Renewal in Times of Organizational Trauma and Change Byrd-Poller, Lynda, Farmer, Jennifer L., Ford, Valerie, 2021-06-25 Organizational trauma theory endeavors to examine the psychological and physical effects of trauma on individuals and groups within an organization Individual trauma the individual mental and emotional disruptions that affect the well being of self often contributes to organizational trauma Or sometimes the disruptions are external and caused by societal economic or political changes Recent traumatic events such as the COVID 19 pandemic and racial tensions stemming from social injustices present even greater challenges for organizations as leaders seek to facilitate healing restoration and renewal Organizational trauma is currently playing out in our organizations and organizational scholars leaders and managers are looking for ways to mitigate this trauma without having explicit knowledge or understanding of how to deal with it Despite the increasing need to better understand organizational trauma and how to address it this body of research has not played a prominent role in mainstream organization and management theory Role of Leadership in Facilitating Healing and Renewal in Times of Organizational Trauma and Change examines the importance of dealing with trauma in organizations and related topics of interest The chapters highlight global perspectives and present new and significant information and observations about organizational trauma and offer insights derived from a solidly and sufficiently broad knowledge base of theory research and practice This book will also grant a basis of understanding trauma its antecedents and outcomes as well as how it can be mitigated and will provide information and insights regarding organizational trauma and how it interacts with and influences other organizational phenomena This book is ideally intended for managers human resources officers academicians practitioners executives professionals researchers and students interested in examining the ways in which organizational trauma is impacting the workplace

Exploring the Professional Identity of Management Consultants Anthony F. Buono, Léon de Caluwé, Annemieke Stoppelenburg, 2013-03-01 The volume is based on the presentations and discussions from the Fifth European Conference on Management Consulting sponsored by the Management Consulting Division of the Academy of Management which took place June 2011 at Vrije Universiteit in Amsterdam the Netherlands The conference theme Exploring the Professional Identity of Management Consultants attempted to capture the highly ambiguous social status of this young and emerging profession Management consulting does not have professional standards or accreditation criteria like those found in medicine or law there are low barriers to entry and a broad range of tasks are undertaken in the name of consulting As a result a crucial aspect of what constitutes such a loosely defined profession is the identity of its members The professional identity of management consultants is continuously developing through the interplay of how consultants are seen and valued by clients as well as in the larger society and how consultancy firms and consultants identify and position themselves This theme includes a variety of topics ranging from the interaction between consultants and their clients consultant rhetoric and self presentation and the plethora of books media and public discourse on consulting to human resource policies and practices knowledge development activities of consultancy firms career and life stories of consultants and consultancies and consulting associations accreditation bodies and education programs All of these factors contribute either directly or indirectly to identity construction in the field of management consulting
