 Scoble, 2005 Stipulation of a present actual position of Art Therapy however inevitably leads to further thoughts about ongoing development Everything required for the theoretical practical founding of a European Art Therapy as discipline still has to be done including construction of a communicative bridge to partners in other continents or countries This development work has two strands of development One follows a more theoretical direction with European Art Therapy as a research and teaching subject as an objective in view The other is directed more towards practical fieldwork which in turn can lead to the establishment of funds of experience as well as quantitative and qualitative investigations and thus to theoretical methodical statements In the contributions on hand both connections pervade Naturally the individual articles in this collection do not fully expound the volume of art therapeutic work throughout Europe but they are a source of information and inspiration for the user from theory and or practice who can then find his particular niche with his own specific interests within the cross section and subsequently continue the discourse spatially and objectively      The Art of Art Therapy Judith A. Rubin, 2011-05-30 The Art of Art Therapy first published in 1984 was written primarily to help art therapists first define and then refine a way of thinking about their work This new edition contains thoroughly revised material that reflects the significant expansion of the field of art therapy in the period since the book was first written Specifically this second edition invites the reader to first consider closely the main elements of the discipline embodied in its name The Art Part and The Therapy Part Chapters dealing with each of these topics comprise the first two sections of the book The third section The Interface contains chapters dealing with putting the two together in an integrated way i e Doing Art Therapy step by step and doing it Artistically Included with this edition is a DVD containing chapter related video content
