die Grenzen von Nationalstaaten überschreiten und das traditionelle Verständnis von Öffentlichkeit in Bewegung bringen Solche empirisch beobachtbaren Knotenpunkte transnationalen Kommunizierens und Handelns werden in diesem Band von einer multidisziplinären Beirgerschaft als situative und temporäre Öffentlichkeiten betrachtet und analysiert Seuchen in der Geschichte Afrikas Christoph Marx, Roman Loimeier, 2011 Healing Knowledge in Atlantic Africa Kalle Kananoja, 2021-02-04 In this ambitious analysis of medical encounters in Central and West Africa during the era of the Atlantic slave trade Kalle Kananoja focuses on African and European perceptions of health disease and healing Arguing that the period was characterised by continuous knowledge exchange he shows that indigenous natural medicine was used by locals and non Africans alike The mobility and circulation of healing techniques and materials was an important feature of the early modern Black Atlantic world African healing specialists not only crossed the Atlantic to the Americas but also moved within and between African regions to offer their services At times patients Europeans included travelled relatively long distances in Africa to receive treatment Highlighting cross cultural medical exchanges Kananoja shows that local African knowledge was central to shaping responses to illness providing a fresh global perspective on African medicine and vernacular science in the early modern world Religion and AIDS Treatment in Africa Hansjörg Dilger, Thera Rasing, 2016-04-08 This book critically interrogates emerging interconnections between religion and biomedicine in Africa in the era of antiretroviral treatment for AIDS Highlighting the complex relationships between religious ideologies practices and organizations on the one hand and biomedical treatment programmes and the scientific languages and public health institutions that sustain them on the other this anthology charts largely uncovered terrain in the social science study of the Aids epidemic Spanning different regions of Africa the authors offer unique access to issues at the interface of religion and medical humanitarianism and the manifold therapeutic traditions religious practices and moralities as they co evolve in situations of AIDS treatment This book also sheds new light on how religious spaces are formed in response to the dilemmas people face with the introduction of life prolonging treatment programmes No More to Spend Luke Messac, 2020-03-16 Dismal spending on government health services is often considered a necessary consequence of a low per capita GDP but are poor patients in poor countries really fated to be denied the fruits of modern medicine In many countries officials speak of proper health care as a luxury and convincing politicians to ensure citizens have access to quality health services is a constant struggle Yet in many of the poorest nations health care has long received a tiny share of public spending Colonial and postcolonial governments alike have used political rhetorical and even martial campaigns to rebuff demands by patients and health professionals for improved medical provision even when more funds were available No More to Spend challenges the inevitability of inadequate social services in twentieth century Africa focusing on the political history of Malawi Using the stories of doctors patients and political leaders Luke Messac demonstrates how both colonial and postcolonial administrations in this nation used claims of scarcity to justify the poor state of health care During periods of burgeoning global discourse on welfare and social protection forestalling improvements in health care required varied forms of rationalization and denial. Calls for better medical care compelled governments like that of Malawi to either increase public health spending or offer reasons for their inaction. Because medical care is still sparse in many regions in Africa, the recurring tactics for prolonged neglect have important implications for global health today.

A Companion to the Anthropology of Africa Roy Richard Grinker, Stephen C. Lubkemann, Christopher B. Steiner, Euclides Gonçalves, 2019-02-06. An essential collection of scholarly essays on the anthropology of Africa offering a thorough introduction to the most important topics in this evolving and diverse field of study. The study of the cultures of Africa has been central to the methodological and theoretical development of anthropology as a discipline since the late 19th century. As the anthropology of Africa has emerged as a distinct field of study, anthropologists working in this tradition have strived to build a disciplinary conversation that recognizes the diversity and complexity of modern and ancient African cultures while acknowledging the effects of historical anthropology on the present and future of the field of study. A Companion to the Anthropology of Africa is a collection of insightful essays covering the key questions and subjects in the contemporary anthropology of Africa with a key focus on addressing the topics that define the contemporary discipline. Written and edited by a team of leading cultural anthropologists, it is an ideal introduction to the most important topics in the field, both those that have consistently been a part of the critical dialogue and those that have emerged as the central questions of the discipline's future. Beginning with essays on the enduring topics in the study of African cultures, A Companion to the Anthropology of Africa provides a foundation in the contemporary critical approach to subjects of longstanding interest. With these subjects as a groundwork, later essays address decolonization, the postcolonial experience, and questions of modern identity and definition, providing representation of the diverse thinking and scholarship in the modern anthropology of Africa.

Making and Unmaking Public Health in Africa Ruth J. Prince, Rebecca Marsland, 2013-11-15. Africa has emerged as a prime arena of global health interventions that focus on particular diseases and health emergencies. These are framed increasingly in terms of international concerns about security, human rights, and humanitarian crisis. This presents a stark contrast to the 1960s and 70s when many newly independent African governments pursued the vision of public health for all, of comprehensive health care services directed by the state with support from foreign donors. These initiatives often failed, undermined by international politics, structural adjustment, and neoliberal policies, and by African states themselves. Yet their traces remain in contemporary expectations of and yearnings for a more robust public health. This volume explores how medical professionals and patients, government officials and ordinary citizens approach questions of public health as they navigate contemporary landscapes of NGOs and transnational projects, faltering state services, and expanding privatization. Its contributors analyze the relations between the public and the private providers of public health, from the state to new global biopolitical formations of political institutions, markets, human populations, and health. Tensions and ambiguities animate these complex relationships suggesting that the question of what public health actually is in Africa cannot be taken for granted Offering historical and ethnographic analyses the volume develops an anthropology of public health in Africa Contributors Hannah Brown P Wenzel Geissler Murray Last Rebecca Marsland Lotte Meinert Benson A Mulemi Ruth J Prince No mi Tousignant and Susan Reynolds Whyte

Beyond Surgery Anita Hannig, 2017-04-24 An incisive and immensely insightful study of African women Western medicine and how to deliver care to those who need it Jean Comaroff Harvard University Over the past few decades maternal childbirth injuries have become a potent symbol of Western biomedical intervention in Africa affecting over one million women across the global south Western funded hospitals have sprung up offering surgical sutures that ostensibly allow women who suffer from obstetric fistula to return to their communities in full health Journalists NGO staff celebrities and some physicians have crafted a stock narrative around this injury depicting afflicted women as victims of a backward culture who have their fortunes dramatically reversed by Western aid With Beyond Surgery medical anthropologist Anita Hannig unsettles this picture for the first time and reveals the complicated truth behind the idea of biomedical intervention as quick fix salvation Through her in depth ethnography of two repair and rehabilitation centers operating in Ethiopia Hannig takes the reader deep into a world inside hospital walls where women recount stories of loss and belonging shame and delight As she chronicles the lived experiences of fistula patients in clinical treatment Hannig explores the danger of labeling culture the culprit showing how this common argument ignores the larger problem of insufficient medical access in rural Africa Beyond Surgery portrays the complex social outcomes of surgery in an effort to deepen our understanding of medical missions in Africa expose cultural biases and clear the path toward more effective ways of delivering care to those who need it most

Enchanted Calvinism's surprising central proposition is that Ghanaian Presbyterian communities have become more enchanted i.e. attuned to spiritual explanations of and remedies for suffering as they have become more integrated into capitalist modes of production. Enchanted Calvinism's central proposition is that Ghanaian Presbyterian communities both past and present have become more enchanted more attuned to spiritual explanations of and remedies for suffering as they have become integrated into capitalist modes of production. The author draws on a Weberian concept of religious enchantment to analyze the phenomena of spiritual affliction and spiritual healing within the Presbyterian Church of Ghana particularly under the conditions of labor migration first in the early twentieth century during the cocoa boom in Ghana and second at the turn of the twenty first century in their migration from Ghana to North America. Relying on extensive archival research, oral interviews and participant observation conducted in North America, Europe and West Africa, this study demonstrates that the more these Ghanaian Calvinists became dependent on capitalist modes of production, the more enchanted their lives and subsequently their church became, although in different ways within these two migrations. One striking pattern that has emerged among Ghanaian Presbyterian labor migrants in North America, for example, is a radical shift in gendered healing practices where women have become prominent healers while a significant number of men have become spirit possessed. Adam Mohr is Senior Writing Fellow in Anthropology in the Critical Writing Program at the University of Pennsylvania.

The Cancer Within Cristina A. Pop, 2022-05-13 The Cancer Within examines cervical cancer in Romania as a point of entry into an anthropological reflection on contemporary health care. Cervical cancer prevention reveals the inner workings of emerging post communist medicine which aligns the state and the market, public and private health care providers, policy makers and ordinary women. Fashioned by patriarchal relations, lived religion and the historical trauma of pronatalism, Romanian women's responses to reproductive medicine and cervical cancer prevention are complicated by neoliberal reforms to medical care. Cervical cancer prevention and especially the HPV vaccination provided Romanians a legitimate instance to express their conflicting views of post communist medicine. What sets Romania apart is that pronatalism, patriarchy, lived religion, medical reforms and moral contestation of preventive medicine bring into line systemic contingencies that expose the historical social and cultural trajectories of cervical cancer. Africa Toyin Falola, Daniel Jean-Jacques, 2015-12-14 These volumes offer a one stop resource for researching the lives, customs and cultures of Africa's nations and peoples. Unparalleled in its coverage of contemporary customs in all of Africa, this multivolume set is perfect for both high school and public library shelves. The three volume encyclopedia will provide readers with an overview of contemporary customs and life in North Africa and sub-Saharan Africa through discussions of key concepts and topics that touch everyday life among the nations' peoples. While this encyclopedia places emphasis on the customs and cultural practices of each state, history, politics and economics are also addressed. Because entries average 14 000 to 15 000 words each, contributors are able to expound more extensively on each country than in similar encyclopedic works with shorter entries As a result readers will gain a more complete understanding of what life is like in Africa s 54 nations and territories and will be better able to draw cross cultural comparisons based on their reading

Life at a Distance Vincent Duclos,2025-06-15 In Life at a Distance Vincent Duclos recounts the story of the Pan African e Network Branded as India s gift to the world and as a shining example of South South cooperation the Pan African e Network was an exceptionally ambitious project Between 2009 and 2017 the network used satellite technology to connect hospitals across Africa with hospitals in India providing medical education and delivering health care for patients at a distance Duclos shows how by accelerating the flow of expertise across continents the network also created connected enclaves at once commercial infrastructural and medical Life at a Distance is the story of a project that Duclos suggests acted as a medium for speculation about the future about medical markets the nation South South relations and a new world order beyond Western centric scripts

The Anthropology of Epidemics Ann H. Kelly,Frédéric Keck,Christos Lynteris,2019-01-15 Over the past decades infectious disease epidemics have come to increasingly pose major global health challenges to humanity The Anthropology of Epidemics approaches epidemics as total social phenomena processes and events which encompass and exercise a transformational impact on social life whilst at the same time functioning as catalysts of shifts and ruptures as regards human non human relations Bearing a particular mark on subject areas and questions which have recently come to shape developments in anthropological thinking the volume brings epidemics to the forefront of anthropological debate as an exemplary arena for social scientific study and analysis

Documenting Death Adrienne E. Strong,2020-11-03 A free open access ebook is available upon publication Learn more at www.luminosoa.org Documenting Death is a gripping ethnographic account of the deaths of pregnant women in a hospital in a low resource setting in Tanzania Through an exploration of everyday ethics and care practices on a local maternity ward anthropologist Adrienne E Strong untangles the reasons Tanzania has achieved so little sustainable success in reducing maternal mortality rates despite global development support Growing administrative pressures to document good care serve to preclude good care in practice while placing frontline healthcare workers in moral and ethical peril Maternal health emergencies expose the precarity of hospital social relations and accountability systems which together continue to lead to the deaths of pregnant women

Exploring Materiality and Connectivity in Anthropology and Beyond Philipp Schorch,Martin Saxer,Marlen Elders,2020-03-30 Exploring Materiality and Connectivity in Anthropology and Beyond provides a new look at the old anthropological concern with materiality and connectivity It understands materiality not as defined property of some thing nor does it take connectivity as merely a relation between discrete entities Somewhat akin to Heisenberg s uncertainty principle it sees materiality and connectivity as two interrelated modes in which an entity is or more precisely is becoming in the world The question thus is how these two modes of becoming relate and fold into each other Throughout the four year research process that led to this book the authors approached this question not just from a theoretical perspective taking the suggestion of thinking through things literally and methodologically seriously the first two workshops were dedicated to practical hands on exercises working with things From these workshops a series of installations emerged straddling the boundaries of art and academia These installations served as artistic academic interventions during the final symposium and are featured alongside the other academic contributions to this volume Throughout this process two main themes emerged and structure Part II Movement and Growth and Part III Dissolution and Traces of the present volume respectively Part I Conceptual Grounds consists of two chapters offering conceptual takes on things and ties one from anthropology and one from archaeology As interrelated modes of becoming materiality and connectivity make it necessary to coalesce things and ties into thing ties an insight toward which the chapters and interventions came from different sides and one in which the initial proposition of the editors still shines through Throughout the pages of this volume we invite the reader to travel beyond imaginaries of a universe of separate planets united by connections and to venture with us instead into the thicket of thing ties in which we live

Politics, Christianity and Society in Malawi Ross, Kenneth R., Mulwafu, Wapulumuka O., 2020-02-27 With the death of John McCracken in 2017 Malawi lost a pre eminent historian This book celebrates McCracken s contribution to the study of Malawi s history and seeks to build on his legacy Part of his genius was that he identified themes that hold the key to understanding the history of Malawi in its broader perspective The authors contributing to this volume address these themes assessing the progress of historiography and setting an agenda for the further advance of historical studies The book is a valuable resource for students researchers and all who are interested in gaining a deeper understanding of Malawi s past and present
